Hunting Fingerprints of Golf Star's Slayers

In the bedroom of the Miley apartment at the Lexington, Ky., Country club in which Marion Miley, noted golf star, was shot to death and her mother seriously wounded, Detectives Guy W. Maupin (left) and Lieut. Joe Hoskins prepare a door, touched by slayers, for fingerprint study.

Telegraph's Review of Use of Fuel Tax in Lee Commended

Several Members of Co. Board Express Their Opinions of Program

A number of the members of the Lee county board of supervisors have voiced their commendation of The Telegraph's review of the expenditures of the county gas tax funds, which appeared in Saturday evening's issue. One member, who asked that he not be named, in commenting upon the huge expenditure of funds today, said:

"The Telegraph is to be congratulated in revealing to the public and tax payers of Lee county the manner in which these funds have been expended. It is just another indication that the present township supervisor system in Lee county is obsolete and the county commission plan should be introduced."

Referring to the expenditure of county gas tax funds for the paving of village streets, the supervisor said:

"Why should Lee county pave the streets of Sublette and Compton when there are townships which have been disregarded in the expenditure and distribution of gas tax money?"

Stresses Criticism

He stressed this criticism in pointing out that on the most expensive spur constructed in the county, the West Brooklyn spur, $138,278.31 from the county motor fuel tax fund was used to build a combination ten foot concrete and gravel spur, the greater part in Brooklyn township, while another $25,000 has been appropriated by the county board to pave the streets of the village of Compton through which U. S. route 51 now passes. The same supervisor criticized the improvement now under completion in the village of Sublette where $30,622.52 is being expended in paving.

Daddy's Calls to His Babe Lost in Woods Are Futile

Conway, N. H., Sept. 30.—(AP)—A distraught father's appeal over an amplifying system in a forest fastness went unanswered today by five-year-old Pamela Hollingworth, missing in near-freezing temperatures since she wandered from a picnic Sunday.

Hundreds of volunteers carrying lanterns searched through the night for the child, who was clad only in a green sunsuit and red sneakers.

Riding in a sound-truck along narrow woodland roads, Joseph E. Hollingworth, Lowell, Mass., lumber company superintendent, shouted time and time again: "Pammy, this is Daddy calling. Don't be afraid, Pam. Don't be afraid."

"If you can hear me, come to me or to the men in the woods who are looking for you."

"If you are stuck anywhere and can't move, move, yell and the men will come to you."

Hopes were raised by the finding of child-sized footprints yesterday at a sawdust pile east of Jona Lake, about a half mile from the spot where Pamela and her family were picnicking.

Unheeded

Chicago, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Ann Weiler is ready to classify policemen a lot like doctors—there's no use calling on them if you won't take their advice.

Two officers who answered her SOS last night, found 40 persons in the Weiler tavern staring at a skunk blocking an exit.

"If we shot that skunk you'd be mighty, mighty sorry," the policemen announced after studying the situation.

When they left, a neighbor killed the skunk with a shotgun.

Forty-one hands on 41 noses voted the police were right.

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
"Would Hitler like to back out of the war at present and, if so, do you think he possibly could?"

This man-size query comes to me from Jacksonville, Florida—and I like the confidence shown in my ability to tell what is in the fuhrer's mind. As though to help us out, we have from Berlin an emphatic denial of any attempts anywhere at peace feelers or peace negotiations by Germany.

Still, that denial isn't as useful as it might be, because while it may be truth it isn't the whole truth, and begs the issues in our double-barrel question. The correct answers seem to be these:

Yes, the nazi chief would like to get out of the war now, provided he could be left in domination of the continent of Europe. Who wouldn't!

No, I don't think he could get out of it. Just as he isn't likely to quit unless he cashes in on his conquests or is defeated, so the allies have sworn that they never will stop until they have pulled him down.

Peace talk has been going the round's quietly in Europe recently. My information is that some axis supporters have been predicting Hitler would make the soviet an offer of separate peace before the winter slush down on the Russian front. If that venture were successful, he would make suggestions to England for terminating the war.

These axis sources believe such

Gen. McNair Says Army Leadership Must Be Improved

Chief of Staff Calls For Replacements of Weak Commanders

Leesville, La., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Lieut.-General Lesley J. McNair, chief of staff of army general headquarters, told high officers of the Second and Third Armies today "leadership and command can and must be improved" but that there would be "no drastic purge."

Warning that "time is fleeting," he called upon army and division commanders to replace weak leaders with strong ones as soon as possible.

Discussing the last field problem of the Louisiana maneuvers which ended Sunday, General McNair said in his final critique "it would be unfair to create an impression that all leadership is bad, for there are a host of fine leaders actually exercising responsible command while many other potentially fine leaders have not yet had a real opportunity to exercise the leadership of which they are capable."

Referring to a "lack of discipline" among the almost 400,000 soldiers of the Second and Third Armies, General McNair said: "There is no question that many

Japanese 'Chutist Troops Repelled

Chungking, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The Japanese army landed a small detachment of parachute troops yesterday at Chuchow, important rail junction 30 miles south of bitterly-contested Changsha but all were either killed or driven away, a Chinese military authority declared today.

(Japanese military sources, who claimed yesterday they had seized Chuchow, today stated they had withdrawn all their forces from there except a protective patrol). Chinese sources, insisting they still held Changsha despite four days of Japanese claims it had fallen, said the provincial capital's fate might be decided within the

Dad Can't Stall Missus Past Today on Fur Coat, Jewelry or Perfume

Washington, Sept. 30.—(AP)—You can't stall the missus past today on the fur coat, diamond wrist watch or expensive perfume she wants, or it will cost you 10 per cent more.

Today is the last day that furs, jewelry and toilet preparations may be purchased free of the new 10 per cent federal tax. All the new excise levies of the $3,553,400,000 tax bill go into effect tomorrow, but these three are the only ones that apply directly to retail transactions.

You don't have to pay cash today to escape the tax, but you've got to take the goods home. Uncle Sam says that unless the purchased item is delivered before October 1 the tax must be paid on it. This also means that people who have bought such items on the "lay away" plan better get their purchases home by tonight, or the government will claim that the purchase was not completed until after October 1 and will collect the tax.

It won't do Daddy much good to rush down to the store to beat the other new excises, however, because they are to be paid by the manufacturer. These include new taxes on sporting goods, cameras, phonograph records and a number of other items, as well as increased taxes on such things as automobiles. Theoretically, the consumer won't have to pay the new tax on these items until goods actually manufactured after October 1 are sold at retail. Actually, of course, some merchants may boost prices on these items earlier.

Liquor was in a special situation. Although the extra $1 a gallon tax, which will bring the total whisky tax to $4 a gallon, will have to be paid by distillers, the government is going to collect a floor tax on any old stock that any dealer has on hand tomorrow, making the boost in beverage prices immediate. Many consumers have stocked up heavily in anticipation of the price rise.

Nazi Firing Squad Shoots Over Score of Accused Czechs

Former Army Leaders in Rank of Alleged Con- spirators Killed

Berlin, Sept. 30.—(AP)—German firing squads have executed 24 Czechs accused of plotting to throw off German rule, it was announced today, and spokesmen blamed Moscow and London for revolt preparations which led to the swift German counter-measures in the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia.

"London especially tried to start something in Paris, Norway and Holland, but it didn't work," a spokesman declared, "and before they got off to a good start in the protectorate we took a 'land'."

He intimated that German authorities had been aware for some time of "disturbing elements" in the protectorate but had waited patiently to determine who was involved before taking action.

"We wanted to avoid dragging persons who had nothing to do with it into the affair," he said. "Most Czechs saw the purposelessness of such politics. Reasonably, Czechs saw the Germans did not intend to put them under the yoke or suppress their culture."

Former Army Leaders Shot

(Exchange telegraph in London reported that the Prague radio said three prominent Czech politicians had been added to the list of those arrested. They were said to be Dr. Jaroslav Krejci, deputy prime minister and minister of justice; General Jezek, minister of the interior, and Dr. George Havelka, former minister of communications who was expelled from the government several months ago.)

Three former army leaders were among those executed. The announcement named them as Army General Joseph Bily, Division General Hugo Votja and Brigadier General Franz Horacek, and described them as "leading men in the opposition group which had as its goal the re-establishment of an independent Czech state."

The 24 persons were accused of officially trying "forcefully to separate the protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia (parts of the former republic) from the reich."

Time Not Disclosed
Just when the 24 persons were shot was not disclosed but the executions followed by not more than 48 hours the declaration of a state of civil emergency in six populous districts of the protectorate by Reinhard Heydrich, chief of the Gestapo security service who has become new reich's protector of Bohemia-Moravia.

(The Czech government in London said General Bily formerly was military commander of Bohemia and General Votja was deputy commander of the army corps at Bratislava.)

It was three years ago today, early in the morning that heads of Germany, Britain, France and Italy signed at Munich an agreement providing for gradual occupation by Germany of parts of Czechoslovakia's Sudeten areas. The Munich agreement climaxed a period of tension over the Czechoslovak question.

(On that same day British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain flew back to London and said there had been gained at Munich "peace with honor...Peace for our time". The concessions gained by Germany at Munich led eventually to the break-up of the little republic which grew out of the World war.)

Price of Government- Owned Corn Advanced

Washington, Sept. 30.—(AP)—A one cent increase in the price of government-owned corn in terminal and sub-terminal elevators was announced today by the agriculture department.

It said that the Commodity Credit Corporation would offer this corn for sale in consumption channels at market prices between 75 and 79 cents a bushel for number two yellow corn, basis Chicago, effective Oct. 1. The September price range was 74 to 78 cents.

The release price on corn at country elevators and in steel bins will continue at the local market price, or 65 cents a bushel, whichever is higher.

TROOPS TO SINGAPORE

Singapore, Sept. 30.—(AP)—A large number of British troops direct from the United Kingdom arrived today.

Royal Air Force units formed the majority of the arrivals but there also were artillerymen and signalers.

Operation

Weehawken, N. J., Sept. 30.—A linoleum and oilcloth worker was in fair condition today at North Hudson hospital after a 90-minute operation during which 410 one- and one-quarter inch tacks, swallowed over a period of years, were removed.

He apparently swallowed the tacks following a practice in his profession of tossing a handful of tacks into his mouth while working. The operation was performed last Saturday when the tacks were revealed by an X-ray for another ailment.

The surgeon used a small electro-magnet and virtually each kind of surgical instrument in removing the tacks. The hospital did not disclose the name of the patient.

Special Session to Pay State Militia Thought Unlikely

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Republican legislators generally regarded as remote today the prospect of a special session of the general assembly to consider compensation for members of the Illinois Reserve Militia.

The subject was raised early this month when Senator John W. Speakman (R-Danville) reported several GOP senators were considering a joint appeal to Governor Green to call such a session. The request has not been presented formally to the governor, however.

Senator T. Mac Downing, Macomb Republican and sponsor of a bill in the regular session to appropriate $1,000,000 in state funds to provide drill pay for the militiamen, said he doubted that Governor Green would consider a special session for this purpose. The governor has said he believes the so-called "Home Guard" is functioning smoothly on the present basis, with members serving as a patriotic duty.

Senator Downing explained a number of Republican senators had consulted him on the special session question, but that he believed there would need to be a practically unanimous demand before the governor would consider calling the extra session.

In the regular session the militia pay appropriation passed the senate unanimously, but died in the closing days of the session in the house appropriations committee.

Report Sharp Fighting Along Dneiper River

Rome, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Sharp fighting by Italian expeditionary forces between the Dneiper river and one of its tributaries was reported today by the Italian high command which said the battlefield was littered with Russian dead.

Italian troops were said to be mopping up the remnants of four Russian divisions—approximately 60,000 men—with more than 5,000 prisoners already taken. The battle lasted several days, the high command said, adding "the front before one of our divisions is completely covered with Russian corpses."

Italian planes were credited with shooting down 15 Russian aircraft in recent dog fights.

(The German high command said the operations in which Italian troops "annihilated stronger enemy forces and captured several thousand prisoners" were east of the Dneiper.)

Hull Reported for Complete Scrapping of Neutrality Law

President Expected to Reach Decision Soon After Conference

Washington, Sept. 30.—(AP)—For an hour and 45 minutes, President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull conferred on all phases of the international situation today, presumably with emphasis on revision of the neutrality law.

As he left the White House, the secretary told reporters:

"We were going over all the different phases of the international situation as they affect matters which we thought called for an exchange of ideas and discussions."

Asked whether they had considered the neutrality law in particular, Hull said they had given their attention no more to one thing than to another. He added that he could go no further in discussing the neutrality act than he already had at press conferences at which he had urged modification.

As the discussion of neutrality law revision continued at the Capitol, Wendell L. Willkie let it be known that he would support Roosevelt in any effort to repeal or modify it.

Back from a week-end at Hyde Park, N. Y., the president planned to follow up his conference with Hull with a talk tomorrow with legislative leaders before starting to work on the special neutrality act message which congress looks for later this week.

White House officials indicated that these two conferences probably would determine whether the president would seek a limited modification of the law or its outright repeal.

There have been reports that the president would confine himself to a request for authority to arm American merchant ships. On the other hand, some informants have said he would tell congress he also should have the power to send American commercial vessels into belligerent ports and combat areas now forbidden by the neutrality law. If both requests were granted, only a skeleton of the law would remain.

"Now In Jelly Stage"

Hull, it was said on good authority, planned to ask the chief executive to "go all the way" in revising the present act. However, Hull was reliably reported to have informed associates that the whole revision question "now is

Delinquent Taxes Filed by Miller

County Treasurer Ward Miller today appeared before Judge Grover Gehant in Lee County court and filed judgment against all delinquent real estate taxes. Oct. 20 is the date set for the annual sale of delinquent real estate taxes, but Treasurer Miller stated that payment of delinquent real estate taxes before that date will prevent the property being offered for sale.

The third and final notices for all delinquent personal property taxes were mailed out Monday with notice of added penalty to be added after Oct. 1 as provided by law. Following the statutes, Treasurer Miller is now preparing the delinquent personal tax list for publication after which he will seek judgment in County court against all delinquents. After midnight tonight, the additional penalty will be added as the law provides.

Skirt, Brassiere, Slip, Step-ins in Sailor's Laundry; Misses Call

(By The Associated Press)
Fort Monroe, Va.—Mr. "Blitzkrieg" Monro's reasons for not showing up for inspection were rather flimsy but he was excused anyway. The husky fireman on an army mine planter sent the uniform he intended to wear to the laundry. Back came a bundle containing one skirt, one brassiere, one slip, two pairs of step-ins, one girl's play suit.

Fort Niagara, N. Y.—There have been stories of soldiers receiving letters measuring from 12 to 30 feet in length but never, until now, had there been a detailed account of how the recipients read them.

Coincidence

Last Thursday was no Friday-the-thirteenth, but it brought double trouble for two young Dixonites who are playmates in the sixth grade room of the South Central school, just the same.

Jimmy Angel, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Angel, Sr., became ill Thursday morning and was taken to Katherine Shaw Betha hospital, where Dr. E. S. Murphy performed an emergency appendectomy before noon. That afternoon, Jackie Foster, son of the W. H. Fosters, also became ill and was rushed to the same hospital where Dr. David Murphy removed his appendix.

Both boys are 11 years old, became ill the same day, were operated upon by a Dr. Murphy, are convalescing satisfactorily—and both hope to be able to leave the hospital at the same time.

Twin Freedoms of Speech and Press Vital, Says Green

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 30.—(AP)—The "twin freedoms" of speech and of the press were said today by Governor Green to be vitally necessary for the preservation of American liberty.

The state's chief executive praised the freedom of speech theme adopted by the nation's newspapers in observance of National Newspaper Week which starts tomorrow.

"Never in the history of this state or nation has there been a time when freedom of speech is such a vital force in determining public opinion," the governor's statement said.

"To this freedom of speech, and its companionate freedom of the press, we attribute much of what we are in America today, and of what we may hope for our future."

"Without these twin freedoms, and without the will to fight for their retention as a part of our American heritage, we would be squarely upon the road which has led to the collapse of many European nations."

Familiar With Results

"With freedom of speech and freedom of the press, we are permitted to maintain our schools and our churches. When we struggle or seek to curtail one or the other, we permit the first step toward totalitarianism, with the consequent dire results with which we are all too familiar."

"To the newspapers of America, and particularly to the press of Illinois, I want to extend my hope that they will never lower their reportorial application, and that they shall ever remain free—a freedom we need in America if we are to remain free."

"We may disagree, but like Voltaire, we shall ever fight to permit those who disagree with us to have the right of a free speech and a free press."

Strikes Close Dodge Division of Auto Plant at Detroit

Detroit, Sept. 30.—Disputes affecting single departments today resulted in strikes which closed the Dodge division of Chrysler Corp. and a Briggs Manufacturing Co. body-making plant, throwing an estimated 20,000 employees out of work.

Melvin Bishop, U. A. W.-C. I. O. regional director, said the Briggs strike was unauthorized, involving about 400 men and resulted from a dispute over seniority. A company spokesman said a shortage of bodies would force the closing of Chrysler's Plymouth division if the Briggs stoppage continues.

A Chrysler corporation spokesman attributed the Dodge shutdown to a walkout in a department where 100 men had been laid off because of curtailed production.

He encountered his only difficulties in several shorthand passages.

Camp Blanding, Fla.—Bob Smith can ascribe his failure to get into the army to an unfortunate bit of business with a monkey. He breezed past one examining physician after another until one doctor noticed his trigger finger had been lacerated and couldn't be bent. Declares RAF Has Taken Initiative in Warfare in Air

Reds Report Invaders Driven Back Around Leningrad Today

By The Associated Press

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, disclosing that Britain has "several times" considered an invasion of the continent, predicted today that the war would last at least through 1942 and warned that Adolf Hitler might fall back on the defensive in the struggle with Russia and lash out simultaneously at Egypt, Spain, Africa, and England itself.

Authoritative London quarters, commenting on Churchill's reference to a possible invasion of the continent, said 26 German divisions—about 390,000 troops—still guarded the French coast against just such an eventuality.

A land attack now, it was said, would "do Russia no good and result in another Dunkerque."

In optimistic vein, however, Churchill declared that Britain had now seized the initiative from Germany in the air.

The reich, he said flatly, is suffering a serious air shortage—presumably from pilots and planes lost in the 14-weeks-old campaign in Russia.

As Churchill spoke, the Russians reported that Red armies defending Leningrad had recaptured a city on the approaches to the old czarist capital and hurled the Germans back "a significant distance."

The city, designated only as "B," fell to soviet troops after 12 hours of violent hand-to-hand and house-to-house fighting, said the Russians, announcing also that many other communities on Leningrad's outskirts had been retaken in mass counter-attacks.

No Gain In Fight

Red Star, soviet army newspaper, said the Germans had made no gain for a fortnight in the siege of the great northern metropolis.

Posing the question "Where will Hitler turn next?" Churchill mentioned the possibility of vast new assaults against the Egyptian Nile, North Africa, Spain and British Isles.

"It would certainly be in his (Hitler's) power while standing on the defensive in the east to undertake all of these enterprises on a great scale together at one time," he said.

Coincidentally, German military quarters in Berlin stressed the importance of statements in the nazi press that the Russian cam-

Nazi Fliers Get Initial Training by Using Gliders

Washington, Sept. 30.—(AP)—A former German army officer told a senate committee today that more than 80 per cent of all the reich's military pilots had received their initial training in gliders.

This testimony was given by Frank P. Wisbar, motion picture producer and director, who left Germany in 1939 after being active for many years with development of gliding and soaring in that country.

Wisbar appeared before a senate labor subcommittee considering legislation to provide an American glider pilot training program.

Under the treaty of Versailles, Wisbar said, Germans were prevented from flying motor-powered planes, so glider flying was developed, starting with some 50 pilots using craft made from broomsticks and paper.

Part of Youth Movement
The program grew with the aid of secret army and navy funds, the witness related, and was taken up by the nazi party as part of its youth movement. The result was that 18,000 pilots and 30,000 mechanics were trained annually for the last ten years.

Wisbar said he had no knowledge of the use of gliders in the German assault on Crete, but that the reich had developed a glider on pontoons with a two-cylinder motor so that it could land on water and reach shore.

Going-Away-To-College Crowd Takes Campus Trail

Student Daughters and Sons Tell College Plans

Sixty Campuses and Training Schools in 14 States Are Chosen by 1941 Crop of Collegians

By LOIS J. STIMELING

Just as surely as fall fells and furs appear in store windows every July, so surely does September find us presenting our autumn catalogue of school and college plans of Dixon's collegiate crowd. The general migration back to school, college and university campus will be over soon, but before the campusward trek is ended, nearly 170 Dixon high school graduates of the class of 1941 and immediately preceding years will have become established at the schools of their choice, our fourth annual back-to-college chronicle reveals. (Last year, the list numbered less than 140).

Sixty colleges, universities and training schools in 14 states are represented on the list of campuses selected by the 1941 crop of collegians. Nineteen young women have had high school credits certified for entrance in hospital training schools for nurses. An additional 15 students have enrolled for business courses. Two are studying for the ministry; another has registered for a course in architecture. Still another has chosen dress designing. Other professions preferred by the group range from dramatics, commercial art, public health, business administration, agriculture, and advanced Scouting, to foreign languages, music, beauty culture, dentistry, historical research, journalism, medicine, teaching, law, psychology, coaching, and various branches of engineering.

Among those receiving early send-offs were gridiron men and members of Greek letter groups. Coaches have been dishing out large helpings of signal drills and practice schedules for two weeks or longer, and the important task of rushing has occupied members of fraternities and sororities, who were also off early for ivy-covered dormitory and study hall.

Again, as in former years, the road most-traveled by the departing student set is the trail downstate to Champaign-Urbana, with Dixon recruits enrolled at the University of Illinois this fall numbering 18. Leaving early in the month for the state university was Robert Hofmann, who prefaced his study hall assignments by lending a hand with "clean-up week" at the Sigma Pi fraternity house on Armory avenue, of which he is vice president.

Before the annual ordeal was over, each member of the Greek letter group had redecorated his own room to his liking. Bob's room has knotty pine walls, so he was able to finish his housecleaning tasks in a hurry, by adding only a fresh coat of green ceiling paint. Bob, an alumnus member of Skull and Crescent, sophomore honorary society, assisted Coach Leo Johnson as varsity track manager last year, and plans to seek the same assignment this year.

In addition to his other duties, Bob is also a member of the Inter-Fraternity council, an organization composed of two representatives from each of the 58 or more fraternities on the campus, that governs all activities of the Greek letter houses. He is a third-year civil engineering student.

His duties as historian for Alpha Phi Omega fraternity are an all-year task for Edward Rinehart, another Dixon student at the state university. Ed, who left for Urbana the first of the month to assist with rush week, is a junior this year, majoring in metallurgical engineering. Incidentally, Ed is a bridegroom of two months, having claimed Miss Edith Gronska of Urbana, a classmate, as his bride on July 26th in Hannibal, Mo.

Robert Austin, a second-year pre-med, enjoys fencing as an extra curricular activity on the Illinois campus. The Illinois fencing team ranked fourth in the Big Ten conference last year, and was awarded two first-place rankings in the circuit. A new coach, who ranks sixth in the International Smiliar association, is being imported from the east this year to lead the Illinois squad's fencing wars. Michigan State, Iowa, Purdue, Chicago, several New York state colleges and Washington are among the foes the team will probably meet this year.

Harold Schick, a sophomore, who has chosen chemical engineering for his major, is staying at the Lutheran Cooperative House. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma fraternity; is treasurer of the Lutheran Student association; belongs to Tomahawk, an honorary society for sophomores, and is a member of the editorial staff for the "Illio" yearbook.

ENROLL IN EAST

Joan Ralston, elder daughter of Mrs. John G. Ralston, is to begin her studies at Spence school in New York City, tomorrow. Her sister, Lucile, has already entered Masters school at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y. Last year, both girls were enrolled at Miss Ethel Walker's school for girls at Simsbury, Conn.

Mrs. Ralston returned to "Reynoldswood" a few days ago, after spending several weeks in the east, closing her summer home, "Ralston House," on Nantucket, and transacting business in Washington.

Frank Dashbach, Jr., son of the senior Frank Dashbachs, has transferred from the University of Chicago, to spend his junior year at the University of Illinois, where he plans to major in general engineering. He served as recording secretary for Delta Kappa Epsilon chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity at Chicago last year, and composed two songs, "Can We Be Through" and "Ricki-Tick." The latter tune, a dance number, was copyrighted and published in the score of the university's annual musical comedy, "Black Friars." At Illinois, Frank hopes to find further opportunities to demonstrate his musical talents.

Others who will be rallying around the standard of the "Fighting Illini" athletic teams will be Earl Forsberg, a junior, who has chosen violin and public school music as a double major, with band, orchestra, and men's glee club rehearsals certain to occupy any extra time he may have to spare from preparations for his junior violin recital in the spring; and Sterling Schrock, Jr., a Sigma Alpha Epsilon who is transferring from Beloit as a sophomore pre-law student.

Also Alfred Nichols, a senior statistics major, whose fraternity is Delta Kappa Epsilon; Betty Jayne Heck, a junior, who spent her freshman year at Beloit; Leonard Zalecki, a commerce major who was graduated from Dixon high in '40; Helen Hey, vice president of the Women's Athletic association, a Kappa Delta, and a senior major in physical education; and Juanita Williams, who is returning for her junior year in bacteriology.

Also five first-year students: Robert McNamera, Gail Harms, Jeanne Smith, and Robert Sanborn, all members of the class of '41; and Robert Hanson, class of '40. McNamera is interested particularly in chemical engineering as a profession; Gail, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harms, has enrolled in the college of agriculture; Jeanne, daughter of the Charles A. Smiths of rural route 1, plans to major in home economics; Bob Sanborn is anticipating a six-year course in commerce and law; and Robert Hanson is attracted by electrical engineering.

(The Sanborns, it will be remembered, moved to Champaign recently, their new address being 105 East Chalmers street. Bob is State senior counselor of DeMolays.)

Edwin Callahan, who has completed two years at the university, expects to return at the end of the first semester to resume his study of architecture. Garland Snow has completed three years as a pre-med and left Sept. 20 for his first year at the University of Illinois school of medicine in Chicago; and Robert D. Stitzel, son of the Earle Stitzels of Nelson, is back in Chicago for his final year in the University of Illinois school of dentistry. Robert, a member of Delta Sigma Delta professional fraternity, worked in the college clinic during the summer, and enjoyed a brief vacation at home before entering the last year of his six-year course. At Champaign,

KANSAS GUARD

Dixon friends of Joe Crawford, a former Dixon high school student for three years before moving to Kansas City, will be interested followers of his efforts with Coach Gwinn Henry's Jayhawkers at the University of Kansas this year. Joe, a sophomore, earned his freshman numeral as guard last season, and is regarded as an outstanding candidate for the same position with the varsity this year, according to the 1941 edition of Street and Smith's pictorial "Football Magazine."

The former Dixon student, who visited here recently with his sisters, the Misses Ethel and Frances Crawford, accompanied the Crimson and Blue team to Philadelphia last week, where they were defeated (31-9) by Temple university on Friday evening. En route back to Lawrence, they stopped in Columbus, Ohio to attend the Ohio State-Missouri game on Saturday, Washington of St. Louis, Nebraska, Marquette, Iowa State, Oklahoma, West Virginia, Kansas State, and Missouri are also on the Jayhawkers' schedule this season.

Joe is one of five Kansas City students who are members of Coach Henry's squad this year. His fraternity is Phi Kappa Alpha, his social fraternity was Sigma Nu.

At least five other state universities are among campuses chosen by Dixon collegians. A new student arriving on the University of Wisconsin campus is William Shultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shultz of Squires avenue. Bill, who plans to center his extra curricular efforts upon basketball and baseball, expects to major in chemistry. He leaves a brilliant record in high school athletics behind him, having won three varsity letters in basketball, and a varsity letter each in football and track. He was honorary co-captain of Coach L. E. Sharpe's basketball team, was guard for the All-Conference team, and acted as captain for most of the tournament.

Historian

EDWARD RINEHART

Historian for Alpha Phi Omega fraternity is an all-year task for Ed, who is a junior major in metallurgical engineering at the University of Illinois. Ed, who is a son of the Delbert Rineharts of 320 Morgan, is a bridegroom of the past summer, having exchanged nuptial vows with an Illinois classmate, Miss Edith Gronska of Urbana, at Hannibal, Mo., in late July.

wars in which the Dukes participated.

At Madison, too, is Louise Miller, a senior, who was chosen last year by Kappa Alpha Thetas to head their sorority house. She left early to superintend rushing affairs of her chapter, and other early-season duties.

Another Madison senior, Don Miller, has chosen coaching as a profession. In a recent news release on football prospects, Coach Harry Stuhldreher referred to "big Don Miller of Dixon, Ill." as the "star of the day's show." The occasion was the last of the Badgers' two-day sessions, preparatory for meeting Marquette on Oct. 4, and Don was operating from his new position at fullback.

Elizabeth Davies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Davies, will be a junior at Madison, where she is majoring in speech. Alpha Phi is her sorority. Leland Shoaf, Jr., spent his freshman year at Wisconsin, and plans to return to the campus for the second semester, to resume study for becoming a commercial artist.

Barbara Miller, younger daughter of the T. J. Millers, did not

LOUISE MILLER

Louise, who is back at the University of Wisconsin in Madison for her senior year, was elected president of her sorority, Kappa Alpha Theta, at the close of the term last year. She left earlier in the month for the Badger campus to assist with her chapter's rush program. Louise is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Miller of 423 North Galena avenue. The Millers' younger daughter, Barbara, is a freshman at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor this year.

Following in the footsteps of her sister, Louise, in the choice of an alma mater. She was motoring north toward Ann Arbor with her parents on Sept. 21, to enroll as a freshman at the University of Michigan. Her campus address is Stockwell Hall.

Registering as a sophomore at the University of Kansas earlier this month was Charles Schuler, who left for Lawrence on Sept. 12th. Charles, a Phi Psi, spent his freshman year at Beloit.

Stanley Krahler, who was graduated cum laude at Knox college in Galesburg two years ago, is back at the University of Virginia, studying for a doctor's degree in commercial chemistry. He is corresponding secretary for Alpha Kappa chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma, chemical professional fraternity; is affiliated with Sigma Xi, honorary scientific fraternity, and plays first clarinet with the university band, which accompanies the Cavaliers' football and boxing teams to a number of out of town campuses each season.

Stanley has been awarded the Eli Lilly commercial fellowship to continue his study at Charlottesville. He left for the south on Sept. 8, to accompany his chemistry professor, Dr. Alfred Burger, and a party of students to a four-day meeting of the American Chemical society in Atlantic City, before the opening of classes on Sept. 17. At Knox, Stanley became affiliated with Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and was awarded a Phi Beta Kappa key.

Following in the footsteps of his father, Frank Thomas (one of many young men whose college careers have been hanging in the balance, due to the draft) is also enrolled at the University of Virginia, from where his father, F. L. Thomas, was graduated in civil engineering in 1913. Mr. Thomas motored to Charlottesville with his son earlier in the month, and spent a week renewing acquaintances with college friends he had not seen since leaving the campus 28 years ago.

Frank had been attending Cornell college in Mt. Vernon, Iowa for three years, before transferring to Virginia. He plans to study law.

Gerald Ankeny left for Iowa City, Sept. 5th, for his senior year at the University of Iowa, where he is one of Dr. Eddie Anderson's standbys as quarterback. He is living at the Sigma Nu fraternity house.

An eastern campus, Harvard, again claims Alan Weinman, who was motoring eastward toward Cambridge, Mass. more than a week ago to begin his sophomore year as a pre-law student. Alan hopes to go out for la crosse and tennis this year, by way of diversion from text book and study hall.

Also in the east, John Moore, son of Mrs. Anna G. Moore, is enrolled at the United States military academy at West Point, N. Y. John attended the University of Illinois for two years, before entering the academy, July 1st.

Westward, Donn Youngmark, member of the class of '40, is spending his freshman year at the Colorado State College of Education in Greeley. Donn, son of the Ernest Youngmarks of 1006 North Galena, is considering the industrial arts as a possible profession.

Still further west, in San Gabriel, Calif., James Kupper is studying to become a medical technician at the California College of Medical Technicians. He was formerly enrolled at Emmanuel Missionary college in Berrien Springs, Mich.

Five Dixon collegians have returned to the Carleton college campus in Northfield, Minn. Edward Lanphier reported on Sept. 12th, to direct Freshman Week activities of the Anglican society, as council chairman. Edward, a sophomore, is studying for the priesthood, and during the summer, was serving as St. Peter's Episcopal church in Grand Detour.

Alice Hintz was also interested in Freshman Week courtesies at Carleton, as a member of the sophomore committee to welcome fledglings to the campus. She sings with the Carleton chapel choir.

Evelyn Worsley, another sophomore at Carleton, is also a member of the choir, and is writing short stories for "The Elms", monthly campus publication. She has chosen public health as her major.

Still another second-year student at Northfield is Elizabeth Ann Warner, daughter of the Robert Warners who is studying chemistry. Last Friday evening Elizabeth Ann came to Evanston to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of her cousin, Miss Lorraine Matthews, and William Weaver, at St. Matthews Episcopal church.

Jeanne Nettz, a junior at Northfield, is particularly interested in English, choir and voice. She is one of 150 young women residing at Evans hall. This northern college offers a fascinating program of winter sports that appeals to all of the Dixon students enrolled there.

Back in the shadow of the famous golden dome at Notre Dame will be two fourth-year men, Charles Kearney and Thomas Reiley, and a junior, Tom Richards. This student trio left for Notre Dame about the middle of the month.

Charles, who is registered as a pre-law student, is president of the Bookman's club, a reading society, and is also a member of The Wranglers, an organization composed of 20 members who meet weekly to debate, (under parliamentary procedure), social, political and economic problems.

Young Reiley has chosen electrical engineering as his major, and has been honored with a membership in the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, professional society. Tom Richards devotes his time for extra curricular activity to the saxophone division of the Notre Dame band and the glee club. The musicians accompany the "Fighting Irish" football team, and are also planning an eastern tour.

Supporting the Purdue Boiler-makers again this year will be David Utley, who left the first of the month to prepare for his junior year of mechanical engineering study. "Mo", who instructed N. Y. A. classes during the summer, was elected president of the Purdue branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at the close of the term last spring.

Also studying in the Hoosier state this year is Helen Butterbaugh, one of the just-out-of-high school crowd, who has enrolled for a secretarial course at Manchester college in North Manchester.

Just across the Wisconsin border, half a dozen young Dixon students are enrolled at Beloit college. Nadine Galos, Jack Ferger and Ralph Kishbaugh are freshmen at this 95-year-old institution; Bruce Palmer, a junior, is also a newcomer to the Beloit campus, having transferred from the University of Chicago; and William Moser is returning as a sophomore. Bruce is a Phi Kappa Psi.

Nadine, who resided in Beloit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Galos, for eight years before the family came to Dixon five years ago to operate The Candy Box, (popular "coke" center for the student crowd), is again a resident of Beloit, her parents having returned there recently to make their home. A skilled linguist is the scholastic goal that Dixon's former whistler has set for herself, with Latin, German, French, Spanish and Greek included on her foreign language curriculum.

Jack plans to study chemical engineering, and Ralph is pinning his hopes upon becoming an architect. Both young Kline and Bill are studying chemistry.

Bill played at half with the Beloit freshmen last year and was called upon to substitute in one or two varsity games. He motored to Bayfield with members of the squad on Sept. 9, and ferried across to Camp Madelin Island, near Green, Mich. to attend a ten-day football camp. He received a numeral in both basketball and tennis last year.

Not quite a college man, James McCoy has packed a campus wardrobe, just the same. He is one of the under-graduate crowd enrolling at Campion college in Prairie Du Chien, Wis.

Six other Dixon students have had credits accepted at Northwestern university in Evanston. They include Frank Gildner, whose parents moved recently to Chicago from Dixon; Warren Lapham, a sophomore, who is studying electrical engineering; Howard Edwards, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Edwards of 822 Chula Vista, who is a senior pre-med and a Phi Kappa Psi; and Patsy Alexander, Marshall Bunell, and John Lapham, all freshmen.

"Pat" hopes to major in business administration later on, John is interested in electrical and chemical engineering, and Marshall hopes to go out for basketball or golf.

Jeanne Hart and Norma Crawford will receive both bachelor of science and R. N. degrees when they complete their five-year course at Northwestern and Evanston hospital. They entered the hospital last fall for the third year of their course.

Robert Evans is back for his final year of study in Northwestern's college of dentistry, after attending summer school. His fraternity is Phi Psi.

Leslie Marshall, brother of Mrs. Robert Ball of this city, has entered Abbott Hall naval school at Northwestern university. He expects to receive a commission as ensign in January.

Winifred Ann Loftus, "Miss Dixon" of her home town's recent Louella Parsons' Day celebration, is back in Evanston for her third year at the National College of Education, where she is majoring in kindergarten work. She is vice president of the Dramatic club, and is also active in Y. W. C. A. and Book club events.

Among the newcomers at the National College of Education this year is Betty Reilly, also of Dixon. She is registered as a sophomore, having attended St. Catherine's college in St. Paul last year.

Newcomer to Beloit Campus

MISS BETTY PUTNAM

Miss Putnam, brilliant young golf star of Oregon, Ill., is beginning her senior year at Beloit college, having transferred to the nearby Wisconsin campus after attending the University of Arizona in Tucson for three years. She is a daughter of the John F. Putnams of Oregon.

The Ogle county linkswoman has already accumulated an impressive record on the greens and fairways. A Thought for Today

Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.—Galatians 6:7.

The brave man carves out his fortune, and every man is the son of his own works.—Cervantes.

Know-How Comes in Handy

You might argue that no serious activity of human beings is useless. Somewhere, sometime, somehow, the most abstruse of skills, the most unpractical of knowledges may come in awfully handy. Vilhjalmur Stefansson spent a lifetime providing around the waste spaces of the Arctic. He believed they would one day be valuable spaces, and that it was worth while to spend a lifetime learning all about them. Lots of people just shrugged and said it was a queer way to spend a lifetime, and forgot about it. Admiral Byrd made airplane explorations of both Polar regions, and twice spent entire winters in the Antarctic. Lots of people said it was a capricious and foolish way for a man to put in his time.

But Stefansson knew what he was doing, and Byrd knew what he was doing, too. A couple of hundred thousand American soldiers are going to benefit from what they learned of life in the cold regions of the earth.

With announcement that several more bases are to be established in the North Atlantic, it becomes clear that the permanent military establishment in the outlying bases is going to be considerably larger. Peculiar health problems are involved. It is necessary that the right kind of clothing and food be provided that the limits of what man can do and can not do in those rigorous climates be defined. What Stefansson and Byrd have found out in regard to those matters is available to the U. S. Army, and it may save thousands of lives. What Byrd learned about airplanes and their operation in his Polar flights may be very serviceable indeed to the Army, Navy and Coast Guard flyers in these days.

For years the Pan American conferences have been discussing health measures—joint control of yellow fever, plague, malaria. It might have seemed that the United States was not benefiting very directly. But now our soldiers are going to Central America, the Caribbean, and the shoulder of South America, to man new bases and outposts. Every bit of effort in the past, every scrap of knowledge gained concerning the peculiar health problem of the tropics may now come forward and save American lives.

Great peoples always owe a debt to the few individuals among them who can see farther ahead.

BRIDE FROM THE SKY

BY HELEN WELSHIMER

CASE OF JUDY ALLEN

CHAPTER XX

THE brighter light did not come on as Judy hurried to get her brown calico dress fastened around her. Her eyes were dark smudges in her face and the russet hair gleamed faintly in the meager outside bulb.

"Phil," she called softly, forgetting that she might sing, dance or yell because there were no other feminine guests of the city tonight.

The man who stood behind the matron was not Phil. He was a tall young man in a brown aviator's suit. There was no laughter in his eyes now and his firm chin looked weary.

"I imagine the sky was nice to-night, Sandy," Judy addressed her visitor. "My star patch wasn't bad."

"Would you like to enter Miss Allen's cell?" the accommodating matron asked. "Bein' as you are to be married, I don't see why you shouldn't be together."

The matron unlocked the door of Judy's cell and flung it back. Sandy closed it immediately. "I'm afraid you've got the wrong man. Funny I had the same idea once upon a time." His lips twisted slightly. "She got away from me."

"You mean she jumped from an airplane to escape you?" the woman's voice queried. "Then what was the man like that she wanted?"

"A ten-minute egg. Not good on toast," Sandy supplied. "You've spoiled everything now," Judy answered. "Think of my job!"

"Your job?" She was aware that his eyes narrowed, tried to pick out her features in the dusky cell, gave up. When he spoke again his voice was gentle, disappointed, impersonal. "I thought you stepped into the empty space because you wanted to save your marriage after I'd made such a mess of everything. I didn't understand your by-line was so important to you."

"Sandy, you're wrong—" "Never mind, Judy. But I'm rather glad I caught on in time. I'd want any wife I claimed to wear my name. I'll get you out of this, anyway, and let you trot back to Phillip."

He turned swiftly and Judy heard the outer door at the entrance close after him. The matron had hurried ahead to open the heavy gate.

LEFT alone, Judy did not remove the calico dress. She wrapped herself in the blanket and laid down on her cot.

She looked at the slim watch set in blue and white sapphires, a birthday gift from Phil. She had intended to remove it from her wrist but Miss Mattie's arrival had interrupted. The watch had stopped in the high altitude. She would not know that it was morning until the matron came again.

Meantime a rat ran around the cell and escaped through a hole. She could hear it scratching somewhere near and moved closer to the wall.

Oh, this was a thousand times worse than falling into space on your back! When she reached her father and Phil, this jail would apologize. The rat ran back and this time her scream was so terrified, so frenzied, that steps came running.

"What's been pulled off?" the warden's huge voice asked. "Another drunk seem' purple pigs?" "Purple pigs! It's a rat!" Judy explained. "Lock me up anywhere! Anywhere! I'll die here! I know I will!"

"It's just Peter, a nice fellow. We all know him around here. When you get your breakfast he'll be mighty pleased if you do some dividing." The rotund warden chuckled and walked away.

"Help! Help! You dumb, inefficient . . ." Judy's voice stopped. What did it matter that she yelled? Nobody cared.

"JUDY! Judy! Judy darling!" That was Sandy's voice. That was Sandy, too, trying to break down the gateway leading into the police reception room.

She fainted away then, quickly, completely, and did not regain consciousness until the matron came with a small platter. Common sense told Judy that she had than the general limit of vision, and who are willing to get unrecognized and even rebuffed against the time when the rest catch up with them.

Pepping Up the Poultry

The great American hen is going to have to do her bit. Fifty billion eggs is the goal for 1942 in place of the mere 42,000,000,000 that rolled from the hen houses in 1941. Something will have to be done to pep up the poultry.

Electric lights in the hen houses might do it, but there's the power shortage to be considered. Just how to appeal to a hen's better nature we'll have to leave to the experts.

But it's too bad they can't be patiently told of the fate of the hens of Europe. They all wound up months ago in the stew pots of the German army.

Politics and the Army

The relationship between the ordinary civil and political life of an American and his life as a soldier is interesting. In the early days of the Republic, a sharp line was drawn against political activity by soldiers because of fear that a military clique might gain political power.

But great mass armies in the wars since 1860 produced a different picture. Men in France in 1918 did not vote because it just wasn't practical. But with today's army most states now provide for voting by their soldiers. The War Department is now providing also for soldiers to run for office under certain circumstances, especially those who were in office when inducted and who wish to seek re-election.

Generally speaking it would probably not be wise to allow active soldiers to mix actively in politics. Under exceptional circumstances, however, the War Department is probably doing well to make exceptions.

Oslo Dances

From the occupied countries of Europe little word comes directly. To know what goes on there, one must study carefully what the Germans themselves reveal, then read between the lines.

Here comes Fritt Folk, the newspaper organ of the nauseous Quisling in Oslo: "Those people in an Oslo suburb, who on the evening of a British air raid, organized a dance in honor of the enemy can be assured that their names are known and that they will be reminded of it at a favorable opportunity."

As gallant a gesture, answered by as nasty and skulking a threat as we've read lately. Does anybody seriously believe that the decent people of the world are ever going to consent to be ruled by creatures of the Quisling cast? In apparently believing that they would, Hitler revealed the blind spot in the eye of the "Great Realist."

A senator says increasing taxes eventually may take some of the butter off our bread. Hope they leave us enough dough to make a roll.

Paris folks shouldn't mind the blackouts ordered by the Germans. They're used to being in the dark.

Vice President Wallace says the House of Hitler will fall from within. While getting a good cleaning.

Washington

Hugh S. Johnson Writes From Capital During Mallon's Illness

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

New York, Sept. 30 — As has frequently been remarked here, no independent columnist has any business allowing his name to be used in any high pressure committee—especially one designed to ballyhoo any particular war policy. The reason he hasn't is that he can control neither its membership, its policy nor the public utterances of other members and yet, by reason of his name on its stationery, he is held responsible for all these things when it is his stock in trade, his daily business, to express and be responsible for only his own opinions.

My own name is on the letterheads of the America First Committee. When I permitted that use, its chairman was Lessing Rosenwald. Its purpose was to insist on prompt, efficient preparedness of American defense of the western hemisphere, on no involvement in foreign wars and in no aid to belligerents except such as comported with these purposes. That was about the gist of the platform of both political parties, and the promises of both political candidates.

There were then other committees such as that to Defend America by Aid to Britain but as even its chairman, William Allen White, said it had no purpose to entangle us in shooting war. He said his slogan was: "The Yanks Aren't Coming". All was innocent and comfortable enough just then but that was before the debate got really hot.

Later extremists on both committees took charge. Fascist and politics flocked to America First. Communists and hot-eyed warminded men took over Aid to Britain. Lessing Rosenwald resigned from chairmanship of America First and William Allen White from Aid to Britain. As emotions flared higher, half a dozen war committees grew up in greater or less imitation of the latter and some pacifist groups formed to out-do America First.

Col. Lindbergh, with whom I have repeatedly said I am not in agreement on strategic views, made a speech in Des Moines that could hardly be described as other than anti-Semitic and the witch-finding senate sub-committee began "investigating" the movie industry.

Immediately I began to be deluged with pressure in my mail and in some papers to resign from America First. I have frequently stated my position on that and criticized all these un-American, unfair and intolerant tactics. I have never participated in the councils of America First or voted on any of their principal policies for reasons stated earlier in this column and have informed them of those reasons. I am no longer either polled or consulted by them on policy or such matters as the recent declaration that Lindbergh is not anti-Semitic. As to that I don't know. I know his speech was.

But I am not going to be pushed around by hostile criticism which takes no account of these things. One reason I joined America First with a good deal of confidence was because with Rosenwald and his business associate, General R. E. Wood, my boyhood friend and life-long comrade at the head of it, I felt sure it was not going permanently haywire on any question of intolerance. I still hope that in the end it won't. As long as it does I shall have nothing to do with it. But I am not going to resign at the first barrage of errors and dead cats. I am used to them. And I am going to express an independent opinion regardless of that of any committee or group.

This is not the only committee on which my name appears. Among several others are the Committees of Award of the American Hebrew, the Council Against Intolerance in America and Bundles for Britain. They never tried to influence my opinion and nobody ever asked me to resign from them. It would produce no result in either case.

Happy Birthday

Illinois Soldiers Turn Back Assault in War's Last Fight

33rd Division Prepares to Return to Camp For- rest at Once

With Second Army in Louisiana, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Troops of Camp Forrest moved into concentration areas today to clean their equipment, repair broken vehicles and prepare for return to their barracks in Tennessee.

Under the plan submitted to the Second Army, 26,000 men will start the 700-mile journey Thursday and travel in large units so that all troops will be back home by October 8.

The troops, who participated in a month of preliminary maneuvers in south Arkansas and north Louisiana during August and early September, played major roles in the two weeks of war games just completed between the Second and Third Armies.

Illinois 33rd division, bolstered by the 75th Tennessee and the Colorado field artillery, met the main attack of the Third Army at Mansfield in the closing battle and turned back the assault after the line sagged momentarily. The 107th Ohio cavalry, constantly on the move since it left Camp Forrest, was in contact with the enemy more than any other single regiment in the war games because the unit served as reconnaissance to feel out the front lines.

Camp Forrest trainees gathered today in the vicinity of Ruston, Choudrant, and Clay in northeast Louisiana, some 60 miles away from the point they found themselves at the end of war games.

The Fifty-Eighth field artillery brigade will lead the way, under the plan for return. It will move to Sheridan, Ark., by way of El Dorado and Little Rock on Wednesday, go to Somervill, Tenn., via Memphis, on the second day and arrive at camp on Friday.

Service units of the 33rd division and 197th cavalry will leave Thursday and, following the same route and schedule as the Fifty-Eighth brigade, arrive at camp on Saturday.

The 65th and 66th infantry brigades of the Illinois division will leave on Friday in combined unit and arrive in Camp Forrest on Monday. Lacking enough transportation to travel by itself, continuous movement will be made possible through use of 75th brigade trucks.

Deaths

CHAS. REX LEWIS

Charles Rex Lewis, Sterling barber, was found dead in bed at his home, 303 North avenue, Sterling, at about 8:00 o'clock Monday morning by his wife, the former Mary Rosbrook, of Dixon, when she returned home from night nursing duties at the Sterling public hospital. He had been ailing several days but his condition had not been considered serious. Funeral services will be held at the Wheelock funeral home in Rock Falls at 2:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the Rev. Chester M. Irwin, pastor of the Sterling Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery, Sterling.

Mr. Lewis was born in McCook, Neb., July 9, 1886, and came to Morrison with his parents when quite young. He was educated in the schools of that city. He was a lover of athletics and seldom missed a high school football or basketball game. In his younger years around Morrison he was active in various sports and was a "southpaw" pitcher of considerable ability.

He was a barber by trade and worked at Morrison for a number of years before going to Sterling late in 1914. He was identified with several barber shops there both as owner and employee. During the past six years he had worked for Ray Hoffman. He was an efficient, capable and reliable workman and gained a large circle of friends.

Friday afternoon while at work he suffered a heart attack but believed it nothing more than an attack of indigestion. Sunday he did not feel well and stayed in bed most of the day. He got up late in the afternoon and ate a good dinner. He appeared to be feeling all right when he retired for bed about 10:30.

Mrs. Lewis stopped at the barber shop Monday morning to see how he was feeling and when she learned he had not been down or had not telephoned she became fearful. Upon her arrival home she discovered him dead. He had been dead several hours. Dorothy Ann, the daughter, had gone to school, unaware that her father had passed away. The death came as a very great shock to the family, many relatives and friends.

Mr. Lewis enlisted in the U. S. army during the World war and served the duration of the war in this country. March 17, 1922, he was united in marriage with Mary Rosbrook of Dixon. Besides his wife and daughter he is survived by three sisters, Gertrude Mathews of Los Angeles, Calif., Bertha Reichman of La Veta, Col., and Fern Mathieser of Kansas, and two brothers, Martin Lewis of Chicago and Roy Mathews of Los Angeles, Calif. The latter was adopted by his brother-in-law and sister when he was a baby.

His mother-in-law, Mrs. Idah Rosbrook, was summoned home from a visit with Dixon friends by his death.

The singing of the Brotherhood chorus of Grace church was a special feature of "Men's Night" service last evening. Mr. Finley addressed his audience on the subject of "Going God's Way." He stressed that God has a plan for the world, for nations, groups, and individuals, and that we only realize the best in our lives as we discover God's plan for us and then seek to carry out the plan in thorough-going Christian living. An orchestra of twelve instruments and the large senior choir gave strong support to the congregational singing and rendered special numbers.

Adapting Wheat To Needs Is Difficult

The story of the struggle of scientists to develop wheat to meet the changing needs of society in the rapidly advancing mechanical age of the past 25 years almost parallels the horse's struggle for farm.

In the beginning, wheat flour dough was kneaded by hand, but mechanical methods of dough mixing and bread baking demanded a different type of wheat, which scientists developed.

Binders, formerly used to cut most of the wheat, used to go into action when the wheat was still in the dough stage, but today's modern combines demand a grain that can ripen without shattering in the harvest process.

O. T. Bonnett, plant breeder at University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says the matter of developing wheat varieties that are resistant to disease has not been one of the easiest problems in wheat breeding. Many varieties that would have otherwise been excellent have had to be discarded because of their susceptibility to smut and other diseases, or to lodging, he said.

Cotton moths, insects that grow as large as bats, breed in the tropics, fly north in autumn, and die there of cold.

Multiplying By Two on Lee County Dairy Farm

One of the most unusual stories in Lee county dairy history was recorded recently at the H. C. Warner farm in The Bend. Three sets of Hereford calves were born in one week to three dairy cows on the farm tenanted by Mrs. Andrew Wohrley. Mr. Warner is pictured here with the photographic evidence of the unusual array of calves and dams.

Well - Sodded Draw for Fall Is Recommended

A good wide draw well-sodded early in the fall with bluegrass seed and timothy will safely drain surface run-off sloping fields, while draws in cultivation erode into deep "V"-shape gullies that often cannot be crossed with farm machinery.

On fields already in pasture or hay that are to be plowed for crops next year, the best procedure is to mark off the drainage ways and lift the plow across them, leaving the sod, recommends R. C. Hay, extension agricultural engineer of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Where gullies now exist, Hay recommends these five steps:

"First shape and straighten the draw by plowing or grading to form a wide flat bottomed channel filling gullies and sloping banks. If practical, have the draw in shape so it can all be mowed with a mower. Discs, harrows and corrugated rollers can be used to form a firm seed bed.

"Second, fertility is essential to good grass waterways. Apply 8 to 10 tons of manure an acre and work it into the seed bed.

"Sow about twice the normal seeding, or 10 to 15 pounds each of red top and timothy to an acre. Some bluegrass and white clover may be added if available. Early fall is a good time to seed the waterways.

"Fourth, if the draw is steep or there is a good-sized drainage area. Be sure to keep such checks low in the center, and extended well into the banks.

"Finally, mow the channel regularly. This will control weeds and make productive hay land of the draws."

Hay says, "Don't be discouraged if the first attempts fail. It may require several attempts before a good sod is obtained in the entire draw. Remember that a seeding now may prevent a gully before spring."

Grass waterways, terraces and contour farming constitute a complete erosion control operation, and this operation is one of five being encouraged among Illinois farmers to enable them to get more conservation of physical and human resources. The other practices include tree planting, seeding of legumes and grasses, pasture improvement and spreading of limestone. Cooperating with the University of Illinois in the program are various agencies and services of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

I disagree with those who say chickens are being held in the country.

Look at the figures. Going back five weeks, you find the government reporting that 28% more chickens were sold than during the corresponding week a year ago. The following week, 16% more; then 2%, 5%, and 17%. It varies from week to week, naturally, but on the whole the increase in the number of chickens sold is in proportion to the increase in the number hatched this year.

In spite of all the talk, I can't find evidence to prove that chickens are being held on the farms. As far as I can see they are being sold in very orderly fashion - which is the way they should be sold.

Certainly there would be no point in holding them back in an effort to influence the market - not with the largest number of chickens on record hatched this spring. Chickens are live; they have to be sold; they can't be sealed, like corn. And to wait and dump them all on the market at once would be disastrous for everybody. Far better to sell them as they reach a good market weight.

Government Will Buy Poultry
Chickens are bringing a cent and a half more than they did a year ago and any disappointment in the market is based not so much on the price itself as on the rather foolish hope that the price of poultry might keep pace with the price of hogs and eggs, both of which boomed as a result of the government's enormous purchases for shipment to Britain.

(Copyright, Oct. 2, 1941, Frank Priebe, 110 North Franklin, Chicago)

Now the government plans to buy some poultry.

Don't get the mistaken idea that they're going to set off any fireworks in the poultry market. The probable result of their buying will be to prevent any further seasonal decline in the price of chickens.

That should be welcome news to anyone who still has some to sell.

They will buy the poultry boned and canned, because it is intended for use in British hospitals. Facilities are not available for shipping poultry in a perishable state, nor is there room to ship any parts of the bird that are not edible. Also the meat must be packed as compactly as possible.

They will buy about 5 million pounds of canned chicken - which is equal to about 24 or 25 million pounds of dressed chicken.

This will take the "surplus" poultry out of regular market channels. And the rest of it will be absorbed easily by the demand in this country, because the comparative prices of chicken and other meats - ham, for instance - will encourage housewives and restaurants to serve a lot of poultry this fall and winter.

All things considered - the price of chickens, the price of hens, and the price of eggs - poultry will keep your pocketbook well-filled with cash this fall and winter.

Sincerely yours,
Frank Priebe

Illinois Ranks High in Numbers of Chicken Flocks

Evidence of Illinois' importance in the farm defense program is that she ranks second only to Iowa in the Midwest in the average number of young chickens in the sample farm flocks.

As of June 1, Illinois had 231 chickens in the sample flocks, compared with 241 in Iowa, 190 in Missouri, 189 in Indiana, 162 in Ohio, 127 in Wisconsin and 106 in Michigan.

For the 10-year average, from 1929 to 1938, Illinois ranked second, with an average of 212, compared with Iowa's average of 238, according to H. H. Alp, extension poultry specialist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Illinois' 1941 average of 231 compared with her 1940 average of 193 shows the results of her recent efforts to increase poultry and egg production under the defense program.

In the program, the U. S. Department of Agriculture committee on poultry set a tentative goal of 15 per cent more chickens raised and at least 10 per cent more layers on farms by January 1, 1942.

Announce Results of 1941 Plowing Match

Manager Don Denean of the Montgomery Ward store announced yesterday that the 1941 Rees Plowing match, sponsored annually by the University of Illinois, was won by a Ward True-Pull outfit the exact duplicate of those now on display in Ward's Farm Store.

The Ward outfit, with Ralph Hopke of Jacksonville, Ill. at the wheel, won the contest with a high score of 94.25 points out of a possible 100.

In the Rees match, generally accepted as one of the toughest and fairest tests of all-around tractor plowing performance, economy of operation plays a big part. At the start of the match, each tractor is supplied with five gallons of fuel, and the tanks are then sealed. Then the outfits plow until they run out of gas. This year, the Ward outfit, with a True-Pull plow and Twin-Row tractor, plowed for 47 minutes after the second place tractor had exhausted its fuel, and scored 50 out of a possible 50 points on fuel consumption economy.

The Ward outfit used 1.51 gallons of gas per acre plowed. Contestants were also graded on quality of plowing. A 6-inch depth was required, and the winning Ward outfit plowed at an average depth of 6 and 3-100 inches. Other factors which were graded were conformation, pulverization, and trash coverage.

The contest, conducted on the Rees Experimental Farm near Jacksonville, was attended by several thousand farmers.

a proposal to Britain would follow the lines of previously rumored plans. That is to say, Germany and England would be the dominant powers of Europe—with heavy accent on Germany. Sovereignty would be restored to those countries in which Britain has special interests, such as Norway and The Netherlands. All of the other nations would come in to Hitler's "new order" or be annexed by the Reich.

In other words Hitler would be pretty much lord of all he surveyed on the continent. John Bull would be allowed to keep his shirt and his imperial connections.

Why shouldn't the Nazi leader want to conclude peace on such terms? His alternative is to fight the war through to a bitter, bloody finish—and he is a long way now from having assurance that he will win. Things have changed mightily since the days when he beat the French to the earth and drove the British into the sea at Dunkerque.

Hitler still is powerful and he still retains the initiative, excepting for the war in the air over the western theater from which he has withdrawn the bulk of his Luftwaffe for use against Russia. He is a conqueror who hasn't yet been stopped. However, there are many reasons why he might be glad to secure right now even a part of the loaf of conquest which he started out to get, rather than continue what is becoming a colossal gamble. Here are some of those reasons:

Even if Germany should conquer Russia, the Nazi losses in men and material have been heavy. This is particularly true as regards the all-important air force. Prime Minister Churchill in London today stated that the German air shortage is "very serious," and Russian reports tend to substantiate this estimate.

Churchill also says that British, allied and neutral shipping losses during July, August and September were only a third of those in the preceding three months, which means that the battle of the Atlantic has been going better for the allies.

It is claimed that very few important ships carrying munitions to Britain have been lost. That is to say, England's strength is increasing rapidly.

The American defense program daily moves faster, to provide aid for the allies.

The British blockade of the continent continues tight, and the winter holds out prospects of terrible suffering from privation in many countries.

Berlin announces that Nazi firing squads have executed 24 people in what used to be Czechoslovakia for plotting against German rule. The rattle of musketry there was only the echo of that in numerous other countries as the tide of revolt swells.

Meanwhile, the axis operations continue to expand without a corresponding increase in strength. Now it's a grim winter war in Russia. Next spring it will be something else.

Sure, Herr Hitler would be glad to get peace now—on the terms previously mentioned.

Fighter Planes Use New Formation In Attack on Germans

Folkstone, England, Sept. 30.—(AP)—A flight of four-cannon Hurricane fighter planes, stretched out in a single line like a football team running forward at the kickoff, raced across the breeze-swept English channel toward Dieppe, France, this afternoon, apparently employing a novel formation in the day's series of low-level attack on German positions.

Watchers on shore could clearly see the cannon muzzles protruding from the wings of the low-flying Hurricanes.

The first offensive flight began at dawn, the planes being only a few hundred feet up east-bound and returning so low they skimmed the sea.

Serious Shortage in Air
Reviewing the war on the third anniversary of the ill-fated Munich conference, Churchill declared that "the enemy's only shortage—a very serious shortage—is in the air". Elsewhere, he said, Germany still holds the initiative.

Churchill said he could make no comment on the possibility of a British invasion of the continent "without giving information to the enemy", but he cautioned that even the advent of winter would give no assurance "that the danger of invasion will be entirely lifted from this island".

Bluntly, Churchill informed Italy that British warplanes would "bomb Rome as heavily as possible if the course of the war should render such action convenient and helpful".

In the war at sea, Churchill reported that the British "slaughter of enemy shipping" had risen one and one-half times in the last three months over the previous three-month period "and is increasing by leaps and bounds".

Shipping Losses Drop
British, allied and neutral shipping losses in the same period dropped two thirds from the three months before, he said.

However, Churchill forecast an intensified Nazi U-boat campaign "by a larger number of U-boats than ever before", and said the German U-boat raiders could be defeated only by intensified British counter-measures "and also by that assistance which we are receiving in increasing degree from other quarters—an evident reference to the United States Navy."

Only an "enormous" conversion of American factories to produce war supplies can keep Russia on the firing-line indefinitely, he said, and suggested that the war would last at least through 1942.

Picture More Optimistic

London military quarters gave a more optimistic picture of the bloody struggle on the eastern front, reporting that "there is no indication of any new German advance anywhere".

Hitler's invasion armies were still smashing at the Russian Crimea, attempting to slash through the four-mile-wide Perekop isthmus linking the peninsula with the U. S. S. R. mainland, but were making scant headway.

In the north, defenders of siege-girt Leningrad were reported to have driven the Germans back at several points, with Red army troops maintaining the initiative. British and Russian fliers working together were declared to have shot down 26 Nazi planes in two days in a single sector.

British Move Important Convoy Through Central Mediterranean Today

(By The Associated Press)

London, Sept. 30.—The British Admiralty said today an aerial torpedo-hit on the British battleship Nelson, the loss of a fighter plane crew and sinking of a motor vessel constituted the only cost of moving an important convoy through the central Mediterranean under a week-end running attack by Italian planes.

Thirteen of the raiders were declared to have been destroyed.

Italians said yesterday that three British cruisers and at least three merchantmen were sunk and that a battleship believed to be the Nelson was damaged. They acknowledged that eight Italian planes were missing but said six British planes had fallen.

A torpedo launched by one of the fascist raiders Saturday slightly reduced the speed of the 16-year-old Nelson, it was said, but there were no casualties among her crew of about 1,360 men.

Italians Nationalize "Enemy-Owned" Plants

Rome, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The Italian cabinet approved today a measure nationalizing all "enemy-owned" industries which had been sequestered since Italy entered the war.

With Premier Mussolini presiding, the cabinet also approved measures to increase Italy's food crops.

One measure authorized the cultivation of idle lands. Another appropriated funds for bonuses which Mussolini promised farmers. These included a premium of 200 lire per hectare—or about $4.25 an acre—for all land planted in grain. Cost of this bonus has been estimated to aggregate more than 1,000,000 lire.

Passenger automobiles registered in the world as of January 1, 1941 totaled 36,343,260.

in the jelly stage" and would not be finally settled until after Roosevelt talks with his congressional lieutenants.

Those congressional informants in close touch with Wilkie, the 1940 presidential candidate, said he had advised them that he would give his support to any move to relax the neutrality law.

"The law never should have been enacted in the first place," informants quoted him as saying. "It ought to be changed now, and I believe congress will change it."

Support for arming merchant ships and sending them into zones now forbidden came last night from Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the senate foreign relations committee. In a broadcast address (NBC) on the Forum program of the Washington Evening Star, Connally said it was time for the United States to "reassert and reorganize our adherence to the doctrine of freedom of the seas."

Widespread Discussion

There was widespread Capitol Hill discussion of changes in the neutrality law and Senator Chandler (D-Ky.) told reporters that "we have got to be able to move on the seas and move quickly."

Opposition statements came, however, from Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) of the senate military committee and Senators Van Nuys (D-Ind) and Brooks (R-III).

From Brooks came this statement: "There is a very grave question whether arming our merchant ships would give them any effective defense. I do not believe that it would, and I think it would result only in the loss of American lives."

Former Judge Assails Third Degree Methods

Indianapolis, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Floyd E. Thompson, former judge of the Illinois Supreme Court, today assailed "third degree" methods of prosecutors in dealing with grand jury witnesses as "contrary to the most elementary principles of justice."

Speaking before the criminal law section of the American Bar Association, Thompson asserted "badgering" of witnesses was not permitted in court and "it should not be permitted in the grand jury room where there is no judge to protect the witness from abuse."

He suggested a commissioner be appointed by the judge to preside over grand jury sessions and to rule on the admissibility of evidence and conduct proceedings.

Young Republicans Meet—

Officers of the Lee County Young Republicans organization enjoyed a scramble supper followed by a business meeting last evening at the cottage of President Harry Herbst. I was voted to hold a meeting Oct. 13 at the Loveland Community House to which Republicans throughout the county are invited, when plans will be made for a Thanksgiving dancing party.

Redistricting Voted Down—

Members of school boards throughout Lee county at a meeting last evening voted 4 to 1 against the redistricting of the county school system. About 250 members of school boards attended the meeting, which was held at the Dixon high school auditorium. County Superintendent of Schools John Torrens presented the subject for consideration, which was open to discussion, after which the vote was taken.

Some Bills Outstanding—

Because some bills incurred in connection with the Louella Parsons Day celebration have not been received by the Dixon Chamber of Commerce, N. H. Kiser, chairman of the celebration committee, has not been able to complete the financial report of the affair, but he hopes to have it ready for publication within a few days. However, it is said that the Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital will receive about $1,500 from the affair—this representing the net receipts from the premiere at the Dixon theater, the banquet and the Hollywood ball.

Gen. McNair Says

of the weaknesses developed in these maneuvers are repeated again and again for lack of discipline. Our troops are capable of the best of discipline. If they lack it, leadership is faulty. A commander who cannot develop proper discipline must be replaced.

"Other Faults"

"Other faults—a mass of them—are due to the comparatively low training ceiling of officers. The unit can be no better than the commander is able to make it. If the commander himself is unable to instruct in the essential subjects of training, he is unable to command adequately."

General McNair's discussion was restricted to about 1,000 officers and he issued a prepared statement.

A serious fault, McNair declared, was disregard of the principle that commanders must make sure a road is safe from enemy fire before masses of troops are sent over it.

Other shortcomings which McNair said were not corrected in the second week of maneuvers were:

Disregard of orders for complete blackout at night;

Spreading forces too thinly over too great a front and comparatively little skillful defensive action;

Inadequate scouting of opposing forces;

Failure of troops to be impressed by the danger from air attack.

Praises Press, Radio

McNair also expressed his appreciation to the press and radio in his critique of the games. He said:

"Appreciation also is due the press. All elements—news, pictures and radio—strove only to give the true picture and it was a very real picture. The members who covered the maneuvers accepted restrictions cheerfully, lived with the troops and earned in many ways the respect and gratitude of us all. We hope that they will come to see us often."

Develop New Method of Fingerprinting

Portland, Ore., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Death caused by strangling. Bruises on neck; no other clues. That's the police report that Captain Orville Williams, long-time Portland detective, and Lloyd H. Brown proposed to chance today. For seven years they have been developing a better means of fingerprinting.

They made 7,000 experiments, using 400 different chemicals, but only a few days ago stumbled on to a method to bring out prints on human flesh.

No method now in use will show the prints, Williams said, but under certain conditions the new method is expected to be a marked aid in tracing assassins.

Have Used Powder

"We developed a powder a long time ago," he explained, "and our experiments satisfied us it would bring out prints on most surfaces long after the present materials were ineffective. It showed the marks clearly on unfinished lumber and other difficult surfaces—then we found it worked on flesh, too."

Perspiration of the victim soon washes out the marks made by an assailant, he said, and since secretions continue from the pores for a time even after death, obtaining prints from flesh has long been considered unlikely.

At the police station identification bureau, however, Williams demonstrated the powder, he dusted it on the hand of a policeman where a thumb had been pressed and photographs were taken.

Williams then transferred the print to a transparent tape for a permanent record.

McCarthy Selects Ruffing to Pitch

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Charles (Red) Ruffing, veteran right-hander, was selected today by Manager Joe McCarthy to pitch the opening game of the World Series for the New York Yankees against the Brooklyn Dodgers tomorrow at the Yankee Stadium.

The big Red Head was the Yankees' most effective pitcher during the regular season with a record of 15 victories and six defeats.

He also is a veteran of World Series competition, having pitched six series decisions and won five.

McCarthy also announced he would return to the regular batting order employed by the Yankees for most of the season in spread-eagling the American League field. During recent weeks McCarthy said he had done considerable experimenting because of the possibility that the Yankees might have to face the strong southpaw pitching of the Cardinals.

Here is the batting order as announced by McCarthy:

Problem of Prime Concern in 'Which Way?' Says Barrett

Illinois Atty. General's Address Today Broadcast by Blue Network

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 30—(Special) — Attorney General George F. Barrett of Illinois charged in a nationally broadcast address today that the "proposed new order" for America is "reactionary and tyrannical" and is exactly the same road which people of other nations followed to nazism, fascism, and communism.

Barrett spoke to the 35th annual meeting of the National Association of Attorneys General. His address was broadcast over the blue network of the National Broadcasting Company and was delivered from the rostrum of the house chamber in the Indiana state capitol.

The problem of prime concern in this country today, Barrett said, "terseely stated is: Which Way America?"

There are three choices from which Americans must determine their future course of government, the Illinois Attorney General said:

- They are:
1. A decentralized government.
 2. A government based on a distribution and balance of powers.
 3. A centralized, or autocratic, government.

Barrett said the final choice as to which road America is to travel lies with the peoples themselves. He warned the attorneys general that it is their duty, as the highest law officials of the land, to counsel and advise the people before they make their decision or allow it to be made for them.

Should Speak Plainly

"It is our duty, as attorneys for the people, to speak plainly and candidly to those who are the judges of their own cause upon the important issues which bear upon the future of their own country," he said.

He discussed the history of various nations, showing how the various "isms" which are distinctly foreign to Americanism have developed, step by step, on the various continents. He warned that the road which America is now traveling is the same which has been followed by other nations which have found themselves finally bound in the iron yoke of totalitarianism, in some form or other.

"Let us look at the problems in the cold light of calm and considered judgment and reason," said Barrett. "Let us weigh the evidence. Let us apply to the facts the only test which we as Americans have any right to use. Let us consider that which is best for America."

"When we do that we will see that the proposed new order for America is not in truth a new liberalism, but is as reactionary and tyrannical in substance and form as Nazism, Fascism and Communism."

"Such totalitarian philosophies can never be best for America. They are obviously the most convincing argument for the belief that the future of America lies in the retention of our system of distributed and balanced powers."

Barrett said that the position of the cities and states in the American form of government, as provided for by the constitution, must be preserved. No other form of government, he said, can ever be best for America.

"Our duty as attorney general," he said, "is that of pleading the cause of the people of our respective states before the courts and tribunals which are the custodians of their liberty."

People Final Court

"But the final court, the last tribunal of appeal in America, is the people themselves."

Barrett told how the free states and cities of Germany had been gradually absorbed by a so-called "strong central government", how liberties had been given away, one after another, and ended with the denunciation that "this was the program of the Nazi creed."

He told how the small communities of Russia had "abandoned the tenor of their ways" when they were lured, siren like, by the promise of "a new life under an all-wise concentrated authority."

That, he said, was "the program of communism."

Issues Warning

He warned that this nation has been following a similar road of promises, of glittering predictions about things as they are to be under the "new order." He then reminded that the promises of the European "isms" have not been fulfilled.

"How false were the promises!" he declared. "How cruel was the deception! But the promises and the nonfulfillment of those promises after the all powerful centralized authority had been granted parallels the history of such experiments down through the ages."

"Even when the power has been centralized for the purpose of serving temporary and emergency ends, its course has been the same."

"It has always moved relentlessly toward its own continuation and perpetuation."

"And just as soon as it has become permanently entrenched, it

Co. A on Maneuvers

By PFC. JAMES W. KLINE

The war games are drawing to a close just as the rainy season in this section of the country is beginning. The days are still warm but at night a heavy dew settles and it gets very cool. We haven't seen much action in this last phase, but we have been constantly on the move and doing each job as ordered. Considerable foot mileage has been added to what we have already walked and each man is now an experienced woodsman that can rough it with the best of them.

After a twenty-one mile march at night on Sept. 17th we waited in a dense woods only a few miles from the front lines for further orders. At dusk the next day we moved up towards the front. Walking silently in the inky shelter of a narrow road, overhung with trees and dense foliage, we advanced three miles. The advance units encountered rifle fire of enemy infantry and we attempted a break through. Had this been successful we would have been caught in a pocket because of greatly superior fire power. So we withdrew to our former area and set up defensive positions ahead of supporting armored forces.

The next morning, Sept. 19, we withdrew on foot nine miles to Fort Jesup and entrucked to Coblenz, La. Here we were put in reserve so that more mobile forces could strike.

Saturday and Sunday were declared holidays and we cleaned up and rested and visited Nachitoches and other historic points of interest.

Monday, Sept. 21 we rolled our packs and walked four miles to a new area, pitched tents and camped until Tuesday noon. Packs were rolled again and we walked out at 1:20 p. m. Entrucked at 2:30 p. m. and bivouaced near Pleasant Hill, La. at 8 o'clock that night. A hurricane was sweeping the Gulf coast of Texas and about midnight we felt the proximity of a violent storm. The wind came up and it rained hard all night and the next morning. By daylight a strong wind was whipping the tall pine trees above us and we prepared to move to an open space. After a few hours the wind died down so fires were built and we stayed in the woods and tried to dry our clothing and equipment which was thoroughly soaked.

That night we moved out at 5:30 on foot and as usual carrying our combat packs and rifles. We walked sixteen and a half miles in ankle deep mud and arrived at an area near Pelican, La. at 12:30 a. m. Entrucked at 5:30 a. m. and rode in the rain to an area near Lulu, La. The sun came out and we dried out all of our equipment. That night at 9 o'clock we marched fifteen miles to bivouac seven and one-half miles from the border of Texas.

Friday, Sept. 26 at 5:30 p. m. we walked seven miles to an entrucking area near Grand King, La. From here, according to the grapevine, we are going in trucks to camp at a national park near Shreveport for a few days to regain the appearances of well groomed soldiers.

We will soon be back in Camp Forrest and with furloughs to look forward to, we are anticipating a new maneuver in South Carolina (according to rumor) with the enthusiasm of battle-just that soon has it become tyrannical and dictatorial."

Barrett said one of the greatest dangers to Americanism was the fact that many honest and sincere citizens had "been enchanted by the vision of a new paradise" and that they had unwittingly joined forces with "politicians who express their (the new order tenets) for sinister purposes of their own."

He warned:

"The present is the harvest of the past. The future will be founded upon the present. The history of the past gives us imperious warning of what happens when a free people relinquishes its liberty to gain some transient advantage or temporary relief from immediate difficulties."

Barrett said that "liberties can be lost as well as won" and added that "liberty is not instinctive."

Liberty, he said, is not a native intuition, but is a product of a great civilization and a high culture.

Europeans, the attorney general said, have never known the American kind of liberty except in the dreams of their patriots.

"While Europe bequeathed to us a hope," he said, "it is we who have realized that hope."

He said that foreign governments have always envied America and often have "silently ridiculed" it, but that this nation has given to its people that freedom which people of other nations have dreamed of but never attained.

He warned again that unless America retains her system of balanced powers, that unless the states and cities retain their constitutional places in government, then America will be taking a different road. The different road, he said, will lead not to Americanism, but to some form of foreign ism.

scorred veterans. The time has passed quickly and we have seen a lot of Dixie. We are in better physical condition and our morale is unbeatable.

The kitchen department pulled a boner that almost proved to be disastrous. One day Sgt. Valbert issued emergency field rations. It comes in cans and consists of hash, stew, meat and beans and coffee, candy and biscuits. It really isn't bad food and quite a change from the efforts of the cooks. So the noncoms, representing the men, had a meeting with Capt. Carr with the proposition that the entire mess department be abolished with the exception of Guy Hardesty who seemed to be doing his best with a club over his head. Guy was to take charge of our baggage and handle the issue of water. The greaseballs quaked at the punishment concocted by hungry, patient, hard-working men. But well-fed Sgt. Gasser, bosom pal of Louie, came to their rescue and played on our mercy to try and endure, as good soldiers sometimes must, lest the shame of it all should spread to more official ears. A compromise was effected so that we now get canned rations for Sunday dinner and we are free to accept eating invitations whenever the situation is not tactical, from any other company in our regiment.

Some of our boys aren't so bad at preparing food. One night back near Coblenz, a small detachment from Company "A" came in contact with a small detachment of eating size chickens and an eating size pig. The livestock was ambushed and with Corp. George Infield, armed with a hand axe, and Pvt. Charles Zinke with a bayonet, the larger member of the opposing forces was quickly dispatched, skinned and dressed. With ferocity seldom seen on the field of battle, a sweeping flank attack, led by Sgt. Leroy Adams, and followed malleably by Pfc. Harold Merrath and Raymond Drew, Pfc. Sam Blandford, Robert Barksdale, Red Keeber and Jack Thompson completing the sack in a cloud of feathers.

Soon a roaring fire was built and close inspection proved the prisoners officially hors de combat. As the evening progressed the aroma of barbecue pork and chicken, brought forth a large gathering of guests to help celebrate the fruits of battle. Leading the singing were Sgt. Milton Crabtree, Corps. Scott Smith, Ed Croft and Kenneth Adams. The party was inspected and declared fit for food of the highest quality by Sgts. Gasser and Wilhelm. Other Greeks bearing canned beer for the festivities were Sgts. Al Bieschke, Red Woodyatt and Larry Jenks. Pfc. Jim Kline and John Decker.

Which all goes to prove that we can learn many sidelines in the army in a pinch.

Second Army Will Lose Many Officers Through New Ruling

New Age Limits Bring Drastic Shakeup in Army Personnel

Alexandria, La., Sept. 30—(AP)—The army's new age limits for officers' ranks will cause a drastic shakeup in the Second Army's staff, forcing most of the top-ranking officers who directed the troops in summer maneuvers out of their posts, it was learned officially today.

The chief loss to Lieut. General Ben Lear, commander of the Second Army, will be that of his chief of staff, Brig. General David A. Robinson, who is past the 60-year-old limit for his grade.

Colonel Marion O. French, deputy chief of staff and one of the ranking tacticians of the U. S. army, and Colonel Louis P. Ford, in charge of the army's training program, are past the 55-year-old level for colonels.

All three officers and possibly others affected, will be retained in army jobs since the war department's vitalization program allows such officers to be placed in administrative positions. Age limits apply only to combat officers.

The officers will not be removed from their posts at one time but will retain their jobs until suitable replacements are found. Authoritative sources said the changes would not be completed before January or possibly later.

These Officers Over Age

Officers over age in the 33rd (Illinois) division from Camp Forrest include:

Lieut. Col. George Heppie, division intelligence officer; Lieut. Col. Harold Squires, adjutant of the division; Maj. Frank Singer, acting personnel officer (who is in line for a promotion that may keep him in active combat service).

Daniel Aden, Maj. Dan Scheuren, Maj. John Nestler and Maj. Frank McNeill. (Several captains names unknown.)

123rd field artillery—Lieut. Col. Frank Nevius, Monmouth police chief who is executive officer.

124th field artillery—Lieut. Col. Middleton and Capt. Paddy Walsh.

131st infantry—Col. John A. Richmond, commander; Lieut. Col. John Hoffstadt, Maj. William Capt. Walter Oosterling, Capt. Merle Crowley, Capt. William Keeley.

Output Mechanical Refrigerators Cut by Federal Order

Washington, Sept. 30—(AP)—The government makers of household mechanical refrigerators today cut production for the last five months of 1941 to a level 43.2 per cent under average monthly output for the year which ended June 30, and warned that cuts in 1942 "will probably be greater."

Thirty factories employing 45,000 workers will feel the curtailment imposed by Priorities Director Donald M. Nelson as a means of conserving steel and other strategic materials for defense needs.

It was the second drastic cut imposed on an industry producing durable consumer goods. Automobile production for December recently was cut 48.4 per cent, and similar limitations are expected soon for washing machines, household irons, vacuum cleaners and other items.

2,007,000 Units

The refrigerator order was based on recommendations of Leon Henderson, director of civilian supply, whose program called for production of only 2,007,000 refrigerators in the 12 months beginning Aug. 1, 1941, as compared with 3,670,000 units in the 12 months ended June 30, 1941.

This curtailment was expected to release 175,000 tons of steel in the twelve months.

Officials of the Division of Civilian Supply said impact of the limitation order would be felt principally in the ten cities which produce 90 per cent of the electric and gas refrigerators in this country—Detroit, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Chicago, Dayton, O.; Schenectady, N. Y.; Evansville; Muskegon, Mich.; Mansfield, O.; and Greenville, Mich.

Credit unions loaned members $185,700,000 in the first six months of this year.

Swiss Protest RAF "Violation of Air"

Bern, Switzerland, Sept. 30—(AP)—The Swiss minister to Britain, has protested as "a grave violation of Switzerland's air space" the passage of some 50 British planes the night of Sept. 28-29 presumably squadrons which heavily raided Italian cities, the foreign office announced today.

The announcement said the British flights called forth "energetic action" by the Swiss anti-aircraft defense.

On the night in question Genoa, Turin and other cities of northern Italy were attacked by the RAF.

Voicing Switzerland's serious concern, the Bern Tagblatt declared:

"On the flight to upper Italy and towns on the central Italian seacoast, British fliers Sunday night again violated Swiss air, following only a few days after Britain curtailed supplies to Switzerland and delivered our country up to increased unemployment."

"It appears that England seems to be acting on the thesis that we are practically ready to join the axis partners, that she understands completely the actual situation of the last democracy on the continent, that she aggravates unnecessarily our already extremely difficult position, that she without doubt fosters a growing ill-feeling for which our authorities will find proper expression."

Anti-Alien Baiting Still Prevalent in Nation Says Biddle

Indianapolis, Sept. 30—(AP)—Attorney General Francis Biddle said today "anti-alien baiting has not disappeared" from this country despite efforts of authorities to keep it in check as the defense program proceeded.

"It has been held down," he added in a speech prepared for a meeting of the National Association of Attorneys General at the 64th annual convention of the American Bar Association.

Biddle said only a few states had passed laws discriminating against foreigners and others had acted to forbid class or race discrimination.

"Such discrimination, however, is continually coming up in times like these," he declared. "Most recently it found expression in an open bitter attack on the Jews."

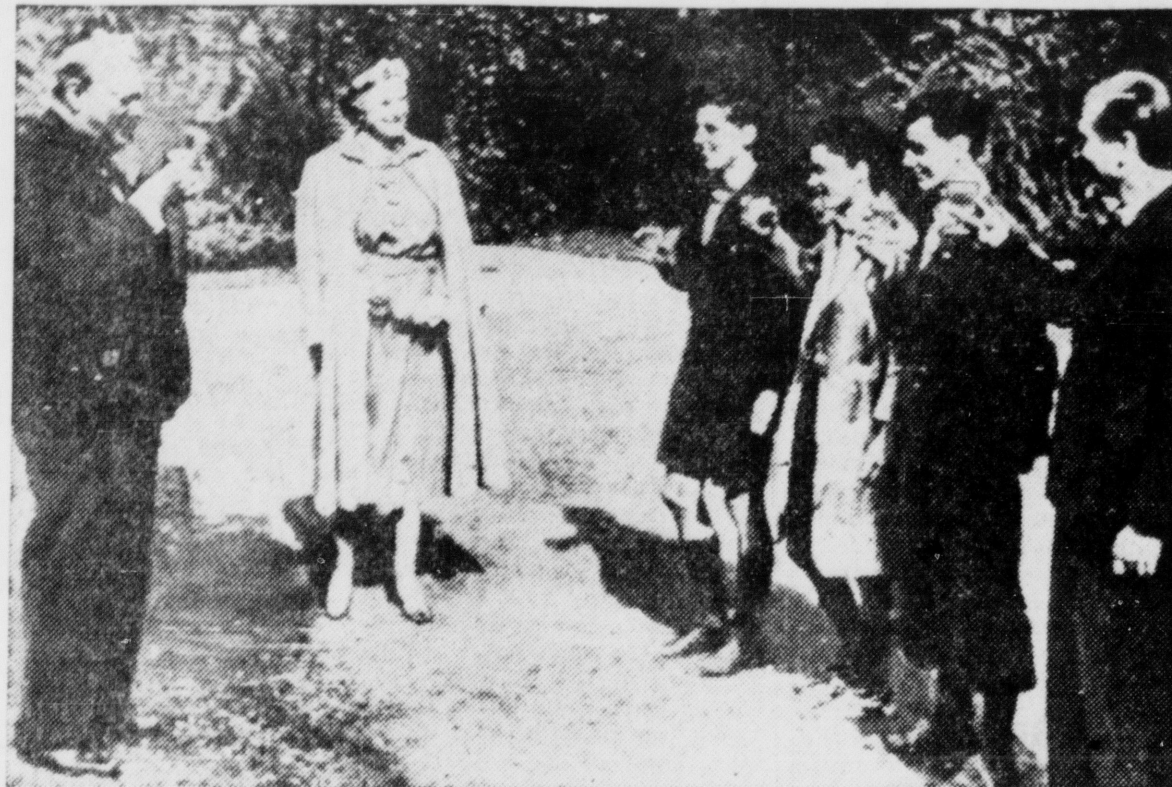

"That this attack should have been resented throughout the country shows that such Nazi methods do not find response in America, or outside of particular groups."

He reported sentiment in the country at large better than at the time of a conference of governors and state attorneys general with the department of justice on the problem a year ago.

"At that time a good deal of hysteria existed and vigilante groups were springing up everywhere," he said. "That has disappeared largely as a result of the wise action of the governors in different states."

He remarked that registration control of aliens and espionage investigation had been left with the federal government, where they belonged.

Deportation for Bridges Is Urged

Washington, Sept. 30—(AP)—Deportation to his native Australia of Harry Bridges, west coast C. I. O. leader, was recommended today by Attorney General Biddle today by Inspector Judge Sears on the ground that Bridges was a member of the communist party and that the communist party "advocates and teaches the overthrow by force and violence of the government of the United States."

At the same time, Sears denied a request by Bridges to reopen the deportation case to hear evidence that the FBI allegedly tapped the wire of a New York hotel room in which Bridges was staying after the San Francisco hearing ended.

Sears held that after Bridges entered the United States in April 1920 he became a member of the communist party and the Marine Workers Industrial Union.

In his findings of fact with respect to Bridges' membership in these organizations, Sears held:

"That the communist party of the United States, from the time of its inception in 1919 to the present time, is an organization that believes in, advises, advocates, and teaches the overthrow by force and violence of the government of the United States."

The inspector also found that the Marine Workers Industrial Union which Bridges allegedly joined after coming to this country in 1920 was "a part of the communist party" and as such, "advocated and taught" the overthrow of the government.

Editor of Red Paper

In a report of 185 pages, Sears concluded at one point that

Bridges was connected with the communist party by stating that the "waterfront worker", a labor newspaper, was "an instrument" of the communist party and the MWIU, and that Bridges was an editor of the paper.

"I conclude," Sears said in part, "that the alien's (Bridges) association with the 'waterfront worker' demonstrates his affiliation with both the MWIU and the communist party, if not actual membership in either or both of these organizations."

Sears also cited in support of his findings the testimony of Harry Lundberg, head of the AFL's Sailors Union of the Pacific, relative to a dinner party conversation participated in by Lundberg, Bridges and others.

At this meeting, Sears' report said, one of the group identified as Sam Darcy asked Lundberg to join the communist party and stated that Bridges was also a member of the communist party.

The Lundberg testimony, as quoted in the Sears report, was that Bridges spoke up and told Lundberg:

"You don't have to be afraid because nobody has to know you are a member of the communist party."

Admits Cooperation

Judge Sears said that the evidence submitted at the hearing, in his judgment, "demonstrated a sympathetic or cooperative attitude on the part of the alien toward the communist party, the Marine Workers Industrial Union and other communist organizations."

"The alien, in fact, admitted a certain amount of cooperation," Sears added, "but sought to justify his conduct upon the ground that was expedient or good trade union practice."

The deportation hearing conducted by Sears was the second in which Bridges waged a fight against being sent back to Australia.

In a 11-week hearing in 1939 resulted in a finding by Dean James M. Landis of Harvard Law School that Bridges' "aims were energetically radical", but that there was no evidence that he was a member of the communist party at the time of the proceedings.

Sears' report eventually will reach the hands of the immigration service board of review which may formally order his deportation.

Bridges then may appeal to the attorney general to set aside any findings by the board, and if he loses there, he may carry his case to the federal courts.

Labor Federation Chiefs Don't Like Green Appointment

Governor Selection of New Labor Director Rapped by Two

Chicago, Sept. 30—(AP)—Governor Green's appointment of Francis B. Murphy as the new state Director of Labor brought outspoken condemnation today from two high officials of the Illinois Federation of Labor.

Selection of the Chicago coal dealer had not been long announced before protests came from I. F. L. President Reuben Soderstrom and Secretary Victor Olander.

"It is a great mistake," declared Soderstrom. "This is something no governor has done—appointing an employer to direct Illinois labor."

"We have a lawyer for attorney general and a former farmer for Director of Agriculture, but Governor Green now picks a man who does not carry a union card to head labor."

Olander termed the appointment, announced yesterday at Springfield, an "attempt to sell Illinois down the river, and we are not going to make the trip."

Conducted Headquarters

The I. F. L. petitioned the governor to retain Martin P. Durkin in the post, but the rival C. I. O. demanded his ouster after he refused last spring to approve payment of about $1,000,000 in miners' unemployment compensation claims in a work stoppage during contract negotiations.

Durkin, whose resignation is effective tomorrow, was a member of the American Federation of Labor's plumbers union.

Murphy, in commenting on the I. F. L. protests, said "I hope they haven't forgotten that it was and C. I. O. forces that I conducted at the behest of both the A. F. L. and C. I. O. forces that I conducted the Republican labor headquarters at Springfield last year."

From Ray Edmundson, head of the C. I. O.'s state Industrial Union Council, came a statement that the governor "should be congratulated on the appointment."

"Mr. Murphy is eminently qualified for the position and will be fair to all elements coming within the jurisdiction of his department, including the A. F. L., the C. I. O., the employers and the state inspection service."

Crusading Chief of Kansas City's Police to Resign

Kansas City, Sept. 30—(The Special News Service)—The police chief who came to Kansas City from the ranks of the FBI is quitting today—after a two-year crusade against gambling, drinking, reckless driving and crime in general.

Lear B. Reed put the police in military khaki and operated on the theory that "crime begins in the high-chair, not the electric chair."

Reed wants to devote himself to other enterprise now, because he sees too little future in an office limited by law to a salary of $5,000.

The turbulence of his regime hasn't been of the type that dogged his predecessors. There have been no Union Station massacres, no Mary McElroy kidnappings, no Johnny Lazia slayings, no bloody election days.

But the minor irritations have been myriad.

Came In With Stark

Reed quit the FBI to become chief of police when former Governor Lloyd C. Stark climaxed his battle with the Pendergast machine by wresting police control from the city government.

He took over a cleanup campaign launched by a crusading circuit judge and carried it so far that "The Twelfth Street Rag", written to celebrate the most brightly lighted street of Kansas City's wide open days, could be rewritten as a dirge.

It wasn't enough that race book shops and dice tables which once flourished in almost every downtown block were padlocked. Punch boards and dice boxes—the kind you shake to see whether you pay double or nothing for a soda—disappeared or else drug store proprietors got in trouble.

Taking over a traffic drive which his predecessors had launched he carried Kansas City to two national safety titles.

All-Time High for Traffic Deaths in August Stressed

Chicago, Sept. 30—(AP)—An all-time high for August traffic deaths emphasized the need for a nationwide campaign requested by President Roosevelt against accidents hampering the defense program, the National Safety Council said today.

Its report of 3,910 traffic deaths in August, 21 per cent above last year, and an eight-months toll of 24,030, 18 per cent higher than the same period in 1940, was issued in advance of the National Safety Congress in Chicago next week when 10,000 safety leaders will begin the national campaign Oct. 6 with 125 national organizations cooperating.

Cities of 10,000 or more population which for the first six months this year had an increase of only 1 per cent over last year, recorded a 10 per cent rise in traffic deaths in July and an 18 per cent increase in August over the same months last year. Rural traffic deaths increased 22 per cent the first six months and almost 25 per cent in July and August.

The council said the tragic boost in fatalities could not be blamed entirely on increased travel because gasoline consumption for the first seven months showed a mileage increase of only 12 per cent, much less than the 12 per cent fatality increase.

Only six states showed cumulative reductions in deaths, North Dakota, New Hampshire, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado and Rhode Island.

Memphis, Tenn., led the large cities in eight-months death reduction, with 53 per cent fewer fatalities.

LAYDEN HAS NOT RECEIVED PROTEST YET ON PRO GAME

Chicago, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Commissioner Elmer Layden said today he had not received the protest of Coach Earle H. (Greasy) Neale over the outcome of the National Football League game between the Philadelphia Eagles and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

"I haven't heard a word from Neale," Layden said, "but learned from another source, that a protest was on the way. We'll be glad to investigate any grievance and make a decision after getting a report from the officials and both teams."

Neale said he was basing a protest on the fact that the referee, Bill Friesel, suffered a broken leg when struck accidentally by a player.

Joe Cries: "Git Along, Little Yogi!" And Nova Does

TERRIFIC PUNCH SPELLS DOOM FOR BIG CALIFORNIAN

Referee Donovan Stops Bout in Close of the Sixth Round

By GAYLE TALBOT
New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—If Joe Louis has fought his last fight, then the world can say goodbye to a fighting man the likes of which it may never see again.

The right that Joe laid on Lou Nova's jaw in the sixth round last night at the Polo Grounds, knocking the big Californian flat and preparing him for the technical knockout that came a moment later, was the sort of picture punch that a fight fan might wait a lifetime to see.

The big negro, now awaiting his call into the army, may never again deliver a single blow with the precision and power of the one that paralyzed Nova's senses and shocked a great crowd of almost 60,000 that had been slowly warming up to what it thought was a fairly even contest.

A year of absence from the heat of championship fighting might rob Louis of the perfect sense of timing and the deadly kick that went into that one climactic blow. If that happens, then it will be something to remember.

Nova was close to the ropes, near his own corner, boxing confidently and well, waiting for Joe to give him an opening. Louis, his face impassive as ever, was shuffling about and getting nowhere, apparently. The crowd had been doing some booing, and the champion's most ardent followers were waiting that "he never looked like that before."

Happens Suddenly
Then suddenly, and simply, it happened.

Louis feinted with his left and threw all of his 202 pounds behind his right. It struck the powerful Nova flush on the jaw and he dropped as though he had collided with a boxer. It was such a terrific blow as to make what happened before and afterward in the fight seem scarcely worth the telling.

Though terribly hurt, Nova managed to gain his feet at the count of nine and to stagger into a barrage of blows. He shuddered under the impact of twenty or thirty cruel shots to his head and body as he sagged and floundered three-quarters of the way around the ring before Referee Arthur Donovan stopped it just at the bell. But that one punch had ruined him.

"I just forgot to duck," said Nova, almost cheerfully, after the wobble came out of his legs and he had reached the dressing room. "Joe's the hardest hitter I ever fought. I saw the punch coming all the way, but I couldn't get out of range. It must have been a beauty."

Ray Carlen, Nova's manager, was bitter because Donovan had stopped the bout with only a second remaining of the sixth round. He argued with seeming logic, that Lou should have been given the minute rest period to see if he could come out and fight. But Nova refused to join him in his beef.

No Complaint
"Maybe I could have taken care of myself if I had had a rest," he said. "But I've got no complaint about Donovan. He can referee all my fights."

As a matter of plain fact, a rest wouldn't have done Nova a particle of good and would have harmed him only a worse beating that he got. A full two minutes after the bout ended Nova got to his feet and made his way out to the center of the ring, and his knees still were wobbling and his face still was blank.

As it was, the worst challenger had to show for the night was a slight cut on the bridge of his nose and a shattered dream. He really thought he could whip Louis and he gave it a good, brave try. He learned differently, and took it very well.

"I still think I can lick any other fighter in the world," he said, carefully excepting Louis. "If Joe retires and goes into the army, then I don't see why I shouldn't claim the title."

Louis, as usual, didn't have a great deal to say about the affair, presumably feeling that the right he laid on Nova's whiskers had spoken for him eloquently.

Each Has Respect

Up to the big punch and the knockout, the fight failed entirely to live up to its glowing advance notices. Where both men had been expected to wade in and slug, they did nothing of the kind. For minutes at a time they circled each other with deep respect, feinting and missing wild leads by a mile. The most exciting thing about the early rounds was the continuous beat from the champion's corner that Nova's handlers were leading him down with grease, which they were.

The fourth round saw the first real action. Louis finally clipped Nova a good one, staggered him considerably, and beat him around some more until the bell. But Nova weathered it in good shape and even fought back, so the crowd settled down to see it go the limit. The surprise, then, was all the

Gross Gate

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—A crowd of 56,549 paid into a gross gate of $583,771 for last night's heavyweight title bout in which Joe Louis scored a technical K. O. over Lou Nova in 2:59 of the sixth round.

The crowd was the 15th largest in boxing history, and the gate ranked 11th. Largest on both counts was the second Dempsey-Tunney fight at Chicago, which drew a paid attendance of 102,450 and a gate of $2,658,660.

IRISH HAVE NEW FOOTBALL HERO

By TOM SILER
Chicago, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The football faithful of old Notre Dame have a bright new hero—Angelo Bertelli, an Italian sophomore from Springfield, Mass.

When he started passing against Arizona the fans, scouts, writers and rival coaches felt that here was a star in the making. By the time he had completed 11 of 14 tosses in nonchalant style, they knew it.

Bertelli won all-western Massachusetts prep honors in football, baseball and ice hockey. He has had hockey offers to turn pro.

Seasoned observers rank him as the best passer at Notre Dame since Marcy Schwartz held forth 10 years ago.

The Irish rate as decided favorites over Indiana Saturday although the Hoosiers will be seeking to redeem their poor showing and loss to Detroit last week. If they get by the Hoosiers, the Irish should have little trouble going into November undefeated, facing only de-emphasized Carnegie Tech and Georgia Tech and Illinois, two squads now rebuilding, the rest of October.

Purdue defeated by Vanderbilt was the biggest surprise of the week end in the midwest ... The Commodores held Mal Edwards' boys to a total of 93 yards, 78 on the ground and 15 by air ... The Boiler-makers completed only one pass of nine ... Despite the loss they'll be favored to whip Pittsburgh Saturday.

The Ohio State-Missouri game clearly illustrated once again the failure of first downs to mirror team strength ... Missouri gained five more yards by land and air than the Bucks but Ohio made 15 downs to the invaders' seven ... Missouri's only score came on a quick-opening play through center which netted 28 yards and left the Buckeyes bug-eyed.

Wisconsin and Marquette prepared for their intrastate war Saturday by pummeling their respective frosh squads last Saturday ... The Badgers rolled up 74 points. Sophomore Pat Harder scored four times ... Marquette was almost as brutal ... Scout Benny Osterbaan told Michigan that Iowa, Saturday's rival, would be much tougher than Michigan State.

CLARK HINKLE IS LEADING SCORER IN PRO FOOTBALL

Chicago, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Thirty-year-old Clark Hinkle, who almost retired from pro football this season, is the leading scorer of the National League at this early date.

The Green Bay star is in his 10th year as a pro, but he still can run like a sophomore. Hinkle put together two touchdowns, two field goals and a point after to give him a total of 19 points in three games. Close behind is Dor Hutson, his teammate who was the league's individual high scorer a year ago.

CHAMPION JOE LOUIS

Joe Louis last night retained his heavyweight boxing title as he stopped Lou Nova, big California contender, in the sixth round of their fight in the Polo Grounds, New York. A terrific punch by Joe in the closing seconds of the sixth round spelled doom for Nova and Referee Arthur Donovan stopped the fight with one second left in the round.

PETER PIPERS PICK RECORDS; BUT BOWMANS CONTINUE TO TOP STANDINGS IN LADIES' LEAGUE

It wasn't a peck of pickled peppers that Peter Pipers' picked last night—it was the four records of the big 16-team Ladies' Bowling league.

The "Piper Pretties" set a new high team game with 936 and new high team series with 2637—and L. McCordie, anchor-gal on the team.

And there was other news ... The Bowman Shoes which swept the series last week came through to win two games last night to remain atop the circuit. The "Shoe Sisters" won two games from the Dixon Cafe. Leading the winners was Hoberg with a 409 series and H. Smith counted 408 for the losers.

Three-Game Winners
Several teams won three games and among them were the gals of the Dr. Bend club who moved into a four-way tie for second place with a three-game victory over Eichler Bros. Topping the winners was Slaats with a 462 series and Neff rolled 397 for the losers.

Kathryn Beards won three games from Plum Hollow as A. Smith counted 466 for the winners and Cline scored 426 for the "golfers."

Rainbow Inn, also sharing in the second place tie, won three games from Frazier Roofing. Counting a 468 series, Legore topped the Inn team and Hecker scored 419 for the "roofers."

Lorene Beauty won two games from Dixon Floral to count in the second place tie. Leading the winners was Heybruch with an even 400 series and P. Carson rolled 460 for the flower shop.

Manhattan cafe won two games from Budweiser Gardens. Leading the losers was Harwood with 481 and Moore topped the winners with 401.

Christos Grocery won two games from Nu-Fashion Beauty as Fishers' 409 was best for the winners and Owens counted 448 for the beauties.

High games last night included those of L. McCordie 187; Harwood 184.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

New York, Sept. 30.—(The Special News Service)—So Joe Louis has slipped, eh? ... He slipped over a punch Nova never saw, but that's about all ... Lou really took it in the fourth and came back—Until Louis found the opening he was trying for ... Joe's first wallop of the fight was convincing enough. It brushed across Nova's forehead and left a pink trail ... Louis said he found the way to that one-punch ending in the fifth round. He missed that time but as soon as Nova came out working his hands back and forth carelessly Joe knew he had him ... Lou's explanation was "I forgot to duck" but the way most of those 56,549 fans figured it out, he forgot immediately after he didn't duck ... Sid (AP) Feder and Al (N. Y. Post) Buck came within a second of being wrong. They both picked Louis in the sixth ... Tony Galento wasn't introduced from the ring before the fight, but he let everybody know he was there by holing from the back row of the press section for Joe to "hit that Yogi on the cosmetic chin."

Today's guest star—Mark Daily, Canton (Ill.) Daily Ledger: "We have a friend so old he can remember the time the Phillies won the National League pennant."

Series sputter—

The police went on duty at the Yankee Stadium Sunday night, 48 hours ahead of schedule, expecting that some eager Dodger fans would start forming a line any minute ... Ducky Medwick says the bums no longer mind being called the "bums." "Those Brooklyn fans can call you a bum and make it sound like a compliment," he maintains. Bill MacPhail, son of the great moustache, has inducted into the Naval Reserve training school on the U. S. S. Prairie state yesterday ... Al Benton, the Tigers' hitless hurler, claims 1941 was his most successful season ... It wasn't because of his 14-6 winning record but because he made three hits ...

There's one department where the Dodgers figure they have a real edge over the Yankees—pinch hitting. Lew Riggs, Jim Wadell and Augie Galan all can connect in the clutch ... Arrivals from Boston hear that lefty Grove has walked right out on the Red Sox and is telling friends he doesn't know what he will do next year.

Gas House Blues—

There is sadness tonight for we Card fans ... Sadness that tears can't overcome. For the pennant we'd given to the Gas House gang ... Was stolen away by Dem Bums. Blaine Simmons Jr., Sioux Falls, S. D.

RUFFING, WYATT ASSIGNED MOUND JOBS FOR OPENER

World Series To Start Before a Capacity Throng Tomorrow

By JUDSON BAILEY

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees are all set for tomorrow's opening game of the World Series, with Whitlow Wyatt, the bald, squeaky-voiced Georgian, ready to take the mound against Charley (Red) Ruffing, veteran ace of the Yanks.

The managers of the two pennant-winners delayed announcing definitely their starting choices until after the teams had worked out again today, and Leo Durocher of the Dodgers said he might not select his first finger until tomorrow morning, but from players of the competing clubs it was learned that Ruffing and Wyatt, the obvious choices, had been instructed to get ready to pitch the first game.

Wyatt, who became 32 years old Saturday, won 22 games and lost 10 for the Dodgers during their National League struggle.

Outstanding Hurler

An American League castoff, he was one of the outstanding hurlers of the entire season. His prestige is so great that he may make the Dodgers an even-money shot to win the initial game starting at 12:30 p. m. (CST) tomorrow at Yankee stadium.

This will be Wyatt's first World Series, but Ruffing, big 36-year-old right-handed ace of the American League champions, has pitched in seven series games, winning five and being charged with one defeat. He bagged only 15 games this season, but was not used nearly as often as Wyatt.</

People's Column

Editor Telegraph:

Having spent most of my business life in large cities, naturally I have witnessed many public events. However, I have never seen any public event that was handled with a greater degree of foresight, skill, precision and enthusiasm than the Louella Parsons-Ronald Reagan Day in Dixon. In my opinion, that day will long be a glittering milestone in the history of this grand little city on the Rock River. All of the fine men and women who had anything to do with the undertaking deserve the unstinted thanks and praise of every other Dixon citizen. My lowest bow to these men and women. They knew their stuff from start to finish.
